DEMAND Allies Hint He Is Focusing Point For Monarchist Plots

German Reply to Demand Is Unsatisfactory and Meeting of Council Is Hurdled.

(By The Associated Press.)
PARIS, Nov. 12.—Germany replying to request of the ambassador's council relative to the return to Germany of Crown Prince Frederick William was received here today. The note is understood to be of an unsatisfactory nature to the allies and the members of the ambassadors' council were hurriedly notified to convene this afternoon for its consideration.

ALLIES TO DISCUSS THE SITUATION AT MEETING

(By The Associated Press.)
PARIS, Nov. 12.—The return to Germany of Crown Prince Frederick William and what the allies can do about it will be discussed by the foreign offices of the allied governments instead of by the council of ambassadors. Great Britain, through her ambassador at Paris, Lord Crewe, proposed this method of handling the case to Premier Poincare last evening and it is understood that M. Poincare agreed.

The council of ambassadors, however, will continue to deal with the problem of the resumption of inspection through the inter-allied committee of control, of Germany's military preparations.

The ambassadors plan to meet as soon as their government have sent instructions to the council. This information is expected tomorrow or Wednesday.

The measures to be taken by the allies regarding Frederick William have not yet been disclosed, but it is generally expected that they will find a satisfactory course of action.

"RETURN COULD NOT BE REFUSED"—STRESEMANN

(By The Associated Press.)
BERLIN, Nov. 12.—Speaking at Halle yesterday, Chancellor Stresemann said the return of Crown Prince Frederick William was "not the worst of Germans," as the German home could not be refused. The decision in this case was purely a question of internal policy and on which the German people could not allow to be taken from them. Referring to the Munich revolt, the chancellor said Germany would have had to suffer a long time for the damage that would have resulted had Hitler become arbiter of Germany's fate. The chancellor remained silent on the behavior of the Reichstag in the affair was highly regrettable.

MUCH SPECULATION OVER HIS RETURN IN LONDON

(By The Associated Press.)
LONDON, Nov. 12.—The return of Frederick William to Germany has caused much speculation as to whether or more is behind the incident than would be implied merely by a consideration of his personal insignificance.

Some commentators argue that his personality has little to do with the situation. The Morning Post says he is neither an heroic nor an honorable figure, but that history shows a small person is sometimes used to launch a great enterprise and that it is impossible to dissociate his return from the outbreak. The Daily Chronicle thinks his presence in Germany must immediately create a focusing point for monarchist plots.

No one attaches much importance to the undertaking of the price or the German government that he will abstain from meddling in politics and there is a pretty general assumption that his return means a head for the throne.

The Daily Telegraph's diplomatic expert says Chancellor Stresemann engineered the return of Frederick William. Stresemann, the article says, persuaded his colleagues that safety of present regime in the Reich lay in splitting the ranks of the monarchists. William in Bavaria would neutralize Ruppert in Bavaria.

Midshipmen Of Annapolis Get Some Bad News

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—There is bad news for the Annapolis midshipmen in a report just submitted to the Department by Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully, commanding the Scouting Fleet. Indicating his opinion that the averages academy student does not acquire "he familiarly" in should with things, he recommended that on future practice cruises, the regular crew of all training ships be replaced by midshipmen.

The suggestion already has met the objection that the morale of the regulars might suffer by their being left ashore so long away from their routine tasks, but Admiral McCully believes this can be avoided if the midshipmen are given the period in taking up trade courses at the Hampton Roads schools.

MAYOR'S STRICT POLICY

JAIL TERM FOR ALL VIOLATORS OF LIQUOR LAW

Mayor Harry Wooding this morning during court gave notice of a more strict policy he has decided on, after careful study, in dealing with willful violators of the liquor laws. Effective tomorrow jail terms will be given all persons who are caught with whisky and convicted—no matter how small the quantity. Jail sentences will also be imposed in cases of persons who are convicted of driving automobiles while under the influence of whisky. The new policy is effective, beginning tomorrow, Mayor Wooding stated this morning.

The mayor declared that if there was no market for liquor there would be no business for the bootlegger and that in the future the person who bought whisky would be dealt with on the same footing as the man who sold it—and that means a jail term. No matter how small the quantity there will be no distinction unless there is a compelling excuse and one which must be substantiated by other persons—and about the only excuse would be one resulting from an illness. He also added that drunks who admitted buying liquor would also be liable but there was little doubt for a conviction of this sort.

"There is entirely too much liquor floating around in Danville," declared the mayor, "and the situation must be curbed." As a result he said that he had given careful consideration to his rigid policy and after studying over the matter for several days, decided it was the only way to improve the situation.

The mayor stated that there was no influence behind his latest policy but that it was the result of his own thought and study of efforts to deal successfully with the liquor question in Danville.

Incidentally he referred to the comparatively short docket he dealt with this morning. No disorder arose on Armistice day and the number of drunks and liquor cases were exceedingly small considering the event. Only one man was dealt with for violating the liquor law and he was fined and given a jail term but this was suspended for the reason that he first wished to give a warning from the bench.

No appointment of a successor to J. A. Thomas, constable of Tunstall district, is expected to be made prior to the January term of the circuit court. If an appointment is made it will be done by Judge Turner Clement. Several men are reported to be anxious for the post which provides a good pecuniary return through fees collected. It is understood that an effort will be made to eliminate the office entirely as one which is not actually necessary and that suggestions will be made to the court that the office of constable can be combined with that of Deputy Sheriff. At this event the work of constable would fall on J. E. Rice who is deputy sheriff in Tunstall district.

All cases in the corporation court resulting from a jury have been disposed of and only a few motions remain to be made before the court adjourns for the term. This morning the court heard arguments for a new trial in the cases of L. H. Brooks, Pleas Womack and Frank Flood who were fined under an unusual indictment a few days ago. The court refused to set aside the verdict in the case of Brooks who was fined $250 but in the case of Womack and Flood, who had been fined $50 the verdicts were set aside and a nolle prosequi entered in each case.

Tobacco sales for the first day of the week were unusually heavy this morning due partly to the "left over" sale at Banner warehouse from Friday and to the considerable quantity of tobacco which was brought in during the early morning. Prices were reported to be somewhat higher on the better grades than last week.

Tom Mitchell, former policeman, cut a painful gash in his head at about noon today when he fell on the sidewalk on Patton street opposite the fire station and bled freely. Police Sergeant J. L. Edwards and Officer J. N. Campbell hastened across the street from the courthouse and found Mitchell lying on the sidewalk and injured himself in the cross currents of navigation at that point. He was not taken in charge, however, but he produced twenty dollars and entrusted it to the police sergeant to liquidate the assessment which he evidently expected. He was removed to his home not many yards from the point where the sidewalk began cutting across.

The contractor improving the six mile stretch of the Henry county road east from Sandy river bridge hopes to complete the stretch from the bridge to the point where the road leads to Schoolfield bridge by December 2nd. This however, will largely depend on the state of the weather. The other mile and a half stretch near Col. Holcombe's may not be finished before work is closed for the winter in which event it is stated that a passable detour will be made and maintained. The contractor it is reported has been experiencing further delays in failure of shipments of stone to arrive and breakdowns of the rock crusher so saying nothing of difficulty in maintaining an adequate force to get results.

Wilson Voices His Faith In Triumph Of His Principles

Declares "We Shall Prevail as God Reigns" In Address to Throng of Old Admirers.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—A reaffirmation of faith in the ultimate triumph of the principles for which he has stood was spoken by Woodrow Wilson to a throng of friends and admirers on an Armistice Day pilgrimage yesterday to his home here.

The former president's declaration, which he said he could not "refrain from saying," was an adjoint to the brief address he had just concluded and came impressively after he had silenced the strains of a hymn a band had commenced at the end of his sentence.

"I am not one of those," he declared, "that have the least anxiety about the triumph of the principles I have stood for."

"I have seen fools resist providence before and I have seen their destruction as welcome upon these again—utter destruction as complete. We shall prevail as sure as that God reigns."

A cheering throng of thousands packed the street and all nearby vacant space when Mr. Wilson appeared on the portico of his Street residence to deliver his second address in less than 24 hours and the third he has made since leaving the White House.

A little bent with his four years of illness he stood with bare head, after waving a response to the outburst of applause which greeted him, while Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, delivered the address on behalf of the visitors.

Although faltering a little once or twice Mr. Wilson stood unassisted beside Senator Glass while he delivered the first portion of his address in which he gave to the men of whom he was "proud to remember" he had been commander in chief, the credit of making the Armistice possible.

Predicting a term in the nations foreign policy, Senator Glass in his address, declared "we shall soon be compelled to put aside the covert and feeble civilities of an 'unofficial observer' to reveal our identity as a nation which means openly to take its part and give directions to things that involve a security and happiness of all mankind."

For the past five sales days there were sold 4,831,226 pounds for $1,257,606.31—an average for the period of $26.03.

These sales beat all previous records and warehousemen are of the opinion that between 65 and 75 million pounds will be sold on the local warehouse floors by the time the season closes.

The receipts here for the past three weeks have been around a million pounds each day.

FLIER DASHES TO DEATH AS 50,000 LOOK ON

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Lieutenant Benjamin R. McBride, 26, an army air pilot from Self Ridge Field, Mt. Clemens, Michigan, was dashed to death late yesterday at Ashburn field here in sight of 50,000 persons gathered to witness the Armistice Day air meet.

The pilot, known for his ability in handling airplanes, was killed when flying at a speed estimated at about 140 miles an hour within a few feet of the ground. Witnesses said that his controls apparently became jammed when trying to rise and the plane dove to earth. Lieutenant McBride was taken from the wreckage but died before reaching a hospital.

His widow and a month old baby survive at Mt. Clemens. He was a graduate of West Point.

United States Senator Royal G. Copeland, of New York, addressing nearly three thousand people in the Ridge street Tabernacle on Sunday afternoon made an appeal to his audience to "reconsecrate ourselves to make the United States the greatest country in the world."

He spoke for three quarters of an hour and was given a hearty response especially at those moments when he uttered a vigorous opinion. He showed himself to be a man of the Democratic faith though this was revealed only incidentally in an address which was patriotic in its conception. Senator Copeland told his hearers that he was in favor of the adjusted compensation bill for ex-service men and that he expected to vote for the measure in the Senate. He gave as his reasons the belief that some pecuniary reward should be made to the men of the army who served in peril of their lives and that other men remained at home and engaged in war time industries receiving high wages for their labor. The speaker's other most notable declaration was that in which he expressed a desire to see America plunged into the European chaos and to hope that it would be on a stable economic basis. Unless and until that is done, he said, America cannot expect to prosper.

The Armistice Day service was well attended—in fact the whole celebration of the anniversary of the historic occasion was on the largest scale since 1918 and probably the beginning of a worthy annual recognition of the occasion in future years.

The roomy building was well filled by three o'clock when the School field concert band played several selections. Soon after the speaker had reached the platform, escorted by the official welcoming committee, Danville Post Commander Waverly H. Cousins opened proceedings by reciting the preamble to the constitution of the American Legion, "America," which was sung after which the audience remained standing in silent prayer for those who fell while engaged in the service of their country.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Opening prices in today's stock market were irregular with most of the recent leaders showing slight recessions in initial sales.

Refusal of the United States to participate in the reparations under the limitations imposed by France and the further weakness of Sterling exchange, induced some profit taking and short selling. Sloss Sherrill advanced two points and Davison Chemical one.

Price Advances
Feature Market

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Another sharp advance in stock and cotton prices and a further weakening in sterling exchange to a new low record for the year were the outstanding developments of this week's financial market.

Several constructive domestic developments contributed to the upward movement of stock prices among them a continuation of record car loadings, heavy over-subscription of $100,000,000 American Telephone bond issues, higher copper and rubber prices and a series of unusually favorable earnings statements by industrial corporations, particularly in the automotive group. U. S. Steel, Baldwin, Studebaker and American Can, generally regarded as the pivot of shares, sold 8 to 12 points above their low prices of last week while even larger gains were recorded by some ordinary inactive issues in which special developments are pending.

Oil shares showed a tendency to shake off their recent heaviness despite another cut in mid continent crude prices. Buying of these issues was helped by the declaration of the regular dividend on Texas Company, previously reported in danger and reduction in gasoline stocks.

Further weakness of sterling was the direct result of a heavy accumulation of bills in this market. London reported that sterling balances there were being transferred to this country because of the fear, despite official denial, that an inflationary policy would soon be adopted in Great Britain in order to relieve unemployment.

HARVEY IS BACK WITH
"SLATE WIPED CLEAN"

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—With conviction that he has accomplished a 1 his tasks abroad—had "wiped the slate clean" as he expressed it George Harvey, retiring American ambassador to the court of St. James returned home late yesterday on the Aquitania, hungry for the homecoming of his aunt Hannah Martin, who lives in Peacham, Vermont.

Mr. Harvey was his typical self to reporters who interviewed him coming up the bay—jovial one minute sarcastically humorous the next and finally saying what was chiefly on his mind with unmistakable seriousness.

He retired, he said, because he wanted to come home, but he would not say whether he would aid a New York candidate in the 1924 presidential campaign. For himself, he was through with public office. As before, he went abroad he was still opposed to the United States entering the League of Nations and any interpretation that President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes are working for that end now is, in his opinion erroneous.

"I have very strong hopes that something is going to transpire in connection with the latest reparations conference proposals in which we will play a very considerable part," he said, "and that it will have a decided influence in achieving the peace and prosperity of the world."

"I am not an optimist," he continued, "because I have been in England almost 3 years and ones optimism becomes modified after being in the midst of things for such a length of time, but I have the utmost confidence that Secretary Hughes present plan is going to be successful. This confidence is not based on anything except such knowledge as I have of Secretary Hughes position and of his ability to carry through whatever he undertakes."

"I hope there will be a sense of rightness and judgment throughout the country that President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes ought not to be hampered in any way in their undertaking to render a great world service."

Former Senator Kellogg, his successor will be welcomed at Court said Mr. Harvey, as at his last luncheon with the King and Queen just before he and Mrs. Harvey sailed they expressed their pleasure at his appointment. The night before sailing he talked with Lord Curzon, the secretary of state for foreign affairs and agreed with him that there is not one big question unsettled between England and America.

His nearly three years residence abroad convinced him that the English people have a sincere friendliness for the people of the United States.

Entry List Of 24
Horses Make Two Races Necessary

(By The Associated Press.)

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 10.—An entry list of 24 two-year-olds in the Walden Handicap, $10,000 added, at one mile, necessitated its division into two races, which will feature the card at Pimlico this afternoon.

H. P. Whitney's Trab-mute, Mr. Mutt, a Bud Fisher entry Sunspiro, owned by G. A. Cochran and the Ranocas stable's Standaway are prominent among the horses scheduled to start in the first division.

The second division promises to be the star race. Beau Butler of the Idlehour Stock Farm, winner of the futurity, the Ranocas Stables Brandywine, H. P. Whitney's Gonfalon Bird, Blaze, a Glen Ridge Farm entry and Bud Fisher's Nellie Morse are the outstanding favorites among turf fans.

MORNING STOCK LETTER

Thomson & McKinnon

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Copper is the real feature in market news this morning. A great change is reported. The demand is big and the price is hardening. Do you imagine for a moment that there has been an actual overnight change in conditions? I do not believe there has been any change whatever except in man's mental attitude. A man that needed copper, had the money to pay for it, was looking through a colored glass and he was afraid to buy and the moment he changed his position and saw clearly that everything was satisfactory he proceeded to place his orders. The same thing can be said of many industries. Conditions were sound and are sound. Stocks are not big. This is confirmed by Dun in the weekly review which says that the daily turnover is large—that there is a large potential demand but not much buying for future needs. This means a strong technical situation—small inventories. Don't be a pessimist.

MORNING GRAIN LETTER

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Laying aside all statistics and arguments and viewing the wheat market as it exists we see a persistently dull affair, devoid of any important or broad new demand. This being so, prices will not advance. On the contrary, value should yield under the weight of the hedging load.

German Reply to Demand Is Unsatisfactory and Meeting of Council Is Hurdled.

(By The Associated Press.)
PARIS, Nov. 12.—Germany's reply to the demand of the allies for the return of the crown prince Frederick William was received here today. The note is understood to be an unsatisfactory one, and the members of the ambassadors' council were hurriedly notified to convene this afternoon for its consideration.

ALLIES TO DISCUSS THE SITUATION AT MEETING

PARIS, Nov. 12.—The return to Germany of Crown Prince Frederick William and what the allies can do about it will be discussed by the foreign offices of the allied governments at the council of ambassadors tomorrow. Great Britain, through her ambassador at Paris, Lord Crewe, proposed this method of handling the case to Premier Poincaré last evening and it is understood that M. Poincaré agreed.

The council of ambassadors, however, will continue to deal with the problem of the resumption of inspection through the inter-allied committee of control, of Germany's military preparations.

"RETURNS COULD NOT BE REFUSED" - STRESEMANN

(By The Associated Press.)
BERLIN, Nov. 12.—Speaking at Halle yesterday, Chancellor Stresemann said the return of the crown prince to Germany was "not the worst of Germans," to a German home could not be refused. The decision in this case was purely a question of internal policy and one which the German people could not be taken from their hands.

Referring to the Munich revolt, the chancellor said Germany would have had to suffer a long time for the damage done by the Munich revolution. He said that the Munich revolution was a question of internal policy and one which the German people could not be taken from their hands.

MUCH SPECULATION OVER HIS RETURN IN LONDON

(By The Associated Press.)
LONDON, Nov. 12.—The return of Frederick William to Germany has caused much speculation as to whether he will be received in London. Some commentators argue that his personality has little to do with the situation. The Morning Post says he is neither an heroic nor an honorable figure, but that history shows a small person is sometimes used to launch a great enterprise and that it is impossible to dissociate his return from the Munich revolution.

Midshipmen Of Annapolis Get Some Bad News

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—There is bad news for the Annapolis midshipmen in a report just submitted to the Department by Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully, commanding the Scouting Fleet. Indicating his opinion that the average academy student does not acquire the familiarity with the ship which is necessary for the duties of a midshipman, the admiral recommended that on future practice cruises, the regular crew of all training ships be replaced by midshipmen.

GASOLINE DROPS AGAIN

Gasoline took another drop this morning when motor fuel was posted at all 10,000 gasoline filling stations at 21 cents. The oil applies equally to the Standard Oil Company and the Gulf Oil Company. At the Standard Oil Company's office this morning it was stated that no explanation had been given for the reduction. A telegram from Cleveland, Ohio, stated that the wholesale rate effective this morning.

TOWN TOPICS

James H. Wilson returned Saturday night from Richmond where he went accompanied by D. W. Perkins of Blackstone and R. G. Robertson of Lynchburg, directors of the Virginia Warehouse Association for the purpose of appointing additional counsel should further litigation eventuate over the Virginia marketing laws. The firm named, Mr. Wilson declared today, is Scott and Buchanan of Richmond.

Dr. Allen Vossell who came here last Saturday, to hold another orthopedic clinic returned to his home at the University of Virginia on Saturday night. He treated about twenty patients at the city health office. Dr. E. W. Garrett, city health officer, stated that arrangements have been completed for his return to Danville every month to continue this important work.

The Rotary Club will meet at one o'clock at the Burton Hotel tomorrow. W. C. Griggs will have the charge of the meeting.

The Danville Kiwanis are planning a "Father and Son" banquet Thursday night at the Young Women's Christian Association. Supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock every Wednesday. The public is invited to attend with his own boy and if not somebody else's.

A public entertainment will be given at Allen's schoolhouse tomorrow night at eight o'clock. The "Chauteau Four" featuring a nine year old comedian will have charge of the programme.

The High School Parent-Teachers Association will meet Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock in the High School auditorium.

The city council will hold its regular monthly meeting at eight o'clock tonight. The meeting promises to be a short one with the new North Danville cemetery probably the most important matter to come up for consideration. The public works committee has had no meeting and it is assumed that there will be no report from this committee.

No appointment of a successor to W. A. Thomas constable of Tunstall district is expected to be made prior to the January term of the circuit court. If an appointment is made it will be made by the circuit court. Several men are reported to be anxious for the post which provides a good pecuniary return through fees collected. It is understood that an effort will be made to eliminate the office of constable which is not actually necessary and that suggestions will be made to the court that the office of constable can be combined with that of Deputy Sheriff. In the event the court decides to eliminate the office of constable, it is expected that the office of deputy sheriff is deputy sheriff in Tunstall district.

All cases in the corporation court requiring a jury have been disposed of and only a few motions remain to be made before the court adjourns for the term. This morning the court heard arguments for a new trial in the cases of L. H. Brooks, Pleas Wood and Frank Flood who were fined under an unusual indictment a few days ago. The court refused to set aside the verdict in the case of Brooks who was fined $250 but in the case of Wood and Flood, who had been fined $50, the court set aside the verdict and a nolle prosequi entered in each case.

Tobacco sales for the first day of the season were unusually heavy this morning due partly to the "left over" sale at Banner warehouse from Friday and to the considerable quantity of tobacco which was brought in during the early morning. Prices were reported to be somewhat higher on the better grades than last week.

Tom Mitchell, former policeman cut a painful gash in his head on the sidewalk on Patton street opposite the fire station and bled freely. Police Sergeant J. L. Edwards and Officer J. N. Campbell hastened across the street from the courthouse and found Mitchell on the sidewalk and to have injured himself in the cross current of navigation at that point. He was not taken in charge, however, but he produced twenty dollars and entrusted it to the police sergeant to liquidate the expenses which he evidently expected. He was removed to his home not many yards from the point where the sidewalk began cutting across the street.

The contractor improving the six mile stretch of the Henry county road east from Sandy river bridge, hopes to complete the stretch from the bridge to the point where the road leads to Schoolfield bridge by December 2nd. This stretch will largely depend on the state of the weather. The other mile and a half stretch near Col. Holcomb's may not be finished before work is closed down for the winter in which event it is stated that a possible winter will be made and maintained. The contractor it is reported has been experiencing further delay in failure of shipments of stone to arrive and breakdowns of the rock crusher to say nothing of difficulty with maintaining an adequate force to get results.

WEATHER FORECAST
VIRGINIA—Virginia, cloudy tonight, probably rain on the coast; Tuesday, partly cloudy.
NORTH CAROLINA—Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday; no change in temperature.

JAIL TERM FOR ALL VIOLATORS OF LIQUOR LAW

Mayor Harry Wooding this morning during court gave notice of a more strict policy he has decided on, after careful study, in dealing with wilful violators of the liquor laws. Effective tomorrow jail terms will be given all persons who are caught with whisky and convicted—no matter how small the quantity. Jail sentences will also be imposed in cases of persons who are convicted of driving automobiles while under the influence of whisky. The new policy is effective beginning tomorrow, Mayor Wooding stated this morning.

The mayor declared that if there was no market for liquor there would be no business for the bootlegger and that in the future the person who bought whisky would be dealt with on the same footing as the man who sold it—and that means a jail term. No matter how small the quantity there will be no distinction unless there is a compelling excuse and one which must be substantiated by other persons—and about the only excuse would be one resulting from an illness. He also added that drunks who admitted buying liquor would also be liable but there was little doubt for a conviction of this sort.

There is entirely too much liquor floating around in Danville, declared the mayor, "and the situation must be cured." As a result he said that he had given careful consideration to his rigid policy and after studying over the matter for several days, decided it was the only way to improve the situation.

The mayor stated that there was no influence behind his latest policy but that it was the result of his own thought and study of efforts to deal successfully with the liquor question in Danville.

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 12.—Thirty Yale students have been questioned by the dean about the presence in their rooms of grape juice which was unfettered when purchased but later was made potent by the addition of yeast.

An agent took orders on the campus for the juice which was delivered after so long a time that many thought his visit was a hoax. With the juice came directions for adding the yeast. Many followed the directions and found the recipe worked all right.

Wilson Voices His Faith In Triumph Of His Principles

Declares "We Shall Prevail as God Reigns" In Address to Throng of Old Admirers.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—A reaffirmation of faith in the ultimate triumph of the principles for which he has stood was spoken by Woodrow Wilson to a throng of friends and admirers on an Armistice Day pilgrimage yesterday to his home here.

The former president's declaration, which he said he could not "refrain from saying," was an adjunction to the brief address he had just concluded and came impressively after he had silenced the strains of a hymn which had commenced at the end of his last sentence.

"I am not one of those," he declared, "that have the least anxiety about the triumph of the principles I have stood for."

"I have seen fools resist providence before and I have seen their destruction as welcome upon their heads as utter destruction as complete. We shall prevail as sure as that God reigns."

A cheering throng of thousands packed the street and all nearby vacant space when Mr. Wilson appeared on the porch of his Street residence to deliver his second address in less than 24 hours and the third he has made since leaving the White House.

A little bent with his four years of illness he stood with bare head, answering a response to the outburst of applause which greeted him, a white Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, delivered the address on behalf of the visitors.

Although faltering a little once or twice Mr. Wilson stood unassisted beside Senator Glass while he delivered the first portion of his address in which he gave to the men of whom he was "proud to remember" he had been commander in chief, the credit of making the Armistice possible.

Predicting a term in the nations foreign policy, Senator Glass, in his address, declared "we shall soon be compelled to put aside the cover slight feeble civilities of an 'unofficial observer' to reveal our identity as a nation which means only to take its part and give directions to things that involve the security and happiness of all mankind."

FLIER DASHES TO DEATH AS 50,000 LOOK ON

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Lieutenant Benjamin R. McBride, 36, an army air pilot from Self Ridge Field, Mt. Clemens, Michigan, was dashed to death late yesterday at Ashburn field here in sight of 50,000 persons gathered to witness the Armistice Day air meet.

The pilot, known for his ability in handling airplanes, was killed when flying at a speed estimated at about 140 miles an hour within a few feet of the ground. Witnesses said that his controls apparently became jammed when trying to rise and the plane dove to earth. Lieutenant McBride was taken from the wreckage but died before reaching a hospital.

His widow and a month old baby survive at Mt. Clemens. He was a graduate of West Point.

In notifying the Navy Department from Lakehurst, N. J., that the flight had been cancelled, Rear Admiral Moffett, head of the Aeronautics bureau, said that a 38 miles an hour gale was blowing there at that time. He said also a storm appeared to be moving up the coast and that these conditions made it inadvisable to undertake.

Fourth Officer to the Wrecked Squadron Tried

(By The Associated Press.)
SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 12.—The case of Capt. Robert Morris, the fourth officer to face court martial in connection with the wrecking of seven destroyers on Point Honda September 8, was called for trial today. Seven officers, once a division commander and the others destroyer captains, remain to be tried.

PASTOR WINN GETS SALARY INCREASED

NORFOLK, Nov. 12.—At the meeting of the board of stewards of Ghent Methodist Church this week the salary of the pastor, Rev. J. B. Winn, D. D., was increased from $4,000 to $4,500. There was a marked spirit of enthusiasm and a full determination on the part of everyone present to make this the banner year for the church.

COMMUNITY CHEST NEEDS $7,000 BEFORE TOMORROW

Teams on the fifteen competing committees out to secure a total of $7,000 for Danville's Community Chest resumed their work this morning hoping to succeed in raising the $7,000 needed to swell the total secured during the past week to the goal.

In order to give the teams a full day in the field it was decided on Saturday not to hold the one o'clock lunch and rally to hear reports but supper will be served at half past six o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. when the report will be heard.

The total amount so far raised in the campaign which began last Tuesday is $5,004 leaving $6,996 to be secured. If subscriptions "were made by any of the churches during the course of yesterday, there will be included in today's totals as well as any donations secured Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

Promoters of the campaign today emphasized that the final goal will be reached only by a bit of hard work on the whole field has been already canvassed. It was also stated on authority that the executive committee was not holding any subscriptions up its sleeve for last minute presentation and that therefore the required amount could only be secured by personal solicitation.

New York Senator at Tabernacle in Armistice Day Address Says America Cannot Prosper Until Then—Is For Adjusted Compensation—Raps Immigration Laws.

Copeland of New York, addressing nearly three thousand people in the Ridge street Tabernacle on Sunday afternoon made an appeal to his audience to "reconsecrate ourselves to make the United States the greatest country in the world."

He spoke for three quarters of an hour and was given a hearty reception especially at those moments when he uttered a vigorous opinion. He showed himself to be a man of the Democratic faith though this was revealed only incidentally in an address which was patriotic in its conception. Senator Copeland told his hearers that he was in favor of the adjusted compensation bill for ex-service men and that he expected to vote for the measure in the Senate. He said his reasons for the belief that some pecuniary reward should be made to the men of the army who served in peril of their lives while other men remained at home and engaged in war time industries receiving high wages for their labor. The speaker's other most notable declaration was that in which he expressed a desire to see America plunging into the European chaos and to help remove it to a stable economic basis. Unless and until that is done, he said, America cannot expect to prosper.

The Armistice Day service was well attended—in fact the whole celebration of the anniversary of the historic occasion was one of the largest since 1918 and probably the beginning of a worthy annual recognition of the occasion in future years.

The roomy building was well filled by three o'clock when the School field football players played several selections. Soon after the speaker reached the tabernacle escorted by the official welcoming committee. Danville Post Commander Waverly H. Converse opened the proceedings by reciting the preamble to the constitution of the American Legion. "America" was next sung after which the audience remained standing in silent prayer. Those who fell while one of the tanks was being driven in Ridge street fired a triple salute, the detonation from the one-pounder reverberating through the tabernacle. Post Chaplain John Page Jones, pastor of Lee Street Methodist church offered the invocation. The band then played a large part of the programme and rendered selections.

Col. Sidney W. Minor recently of Durham, N. C., made the address in thanking the speaker of the day. He said that the American Legion is no longer an organization but an institution of far reaching power, the influence of which is felt in Congress though he was careful to point out, it is not in politics. It is purpose, he declared, is to maintain a high sentiment and to stand as a reminder for the high ideals which impelled this country to take up arms in the war. He referred to the scandal in the Veterans Bureau in Washington and forecast an early reformation of these misdeeds. Reference to Woodrow Wilson's expression on America's role in International affairs drew an immediate storm of handclapping which was repeated after the speaker had referred to his great service to humanity. Col. Minor briefly sketched Senator Copeland's public career after introducing him to the audience after paying him in handsome tribute.

Senator Copeland was generous in his bestowal of compliments. Passing from one or two humorous anecdotes he referred to Senator Swanson as "one of the solid men in the Senate." He spoke warmly of "my friend, Lady Astor" and said that she was doing today in politics. He also spoke enthusiastically of Judge Kerr Morehead. Harry, also Mayor Harry Wooding whose long term of public service and his repeated reelection, he said spoke handsomely for the church.

HEAVY TOBACCO DELIVERIES MADE

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 10.—Heavy deliveries to the Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association during the past week have brought its total receipts to 73,000,000 pounds of this year's crop according to the figures reported by the co-operative warehousemen in Richmond, today. More than 21,000,000 pounds of tobacco have reached the association warehousemen of the old belt since they began operations one month ago, close to four million pounds more of the weed has been handled over co-operative floors in South Carolina and border markets than was the case last year and the increase of the deliveries shows that the co-operative warehousemen from eastern North Carolina indicate that the marketing association will receive millions of pounds more from the eastern markets than in 1922.

The strengthening of their contention that the landlord member must deliver all the tobacco of share croppers to the association by the holding of a Virginia court that the landlord is responsible for the tobacco of 30 days in Rockingham county jail following a fine of $250 apiece levied by Superior court, Judge Henry P. Lane for violation of the marketing contract by two Rockingham growers in defiance of an injunction by the association, in the Wake County Superior court at Raleigh during the next two weeks.

THEY WERE HAPPY COUPLE 25,000 YEARS AGO

AT THE TOP IS THE CRYPT WHERE THE ABORIGINAL AMERICANS, LIVING PERHAPS 25,000 YEARS AGO, WERE BURIED. THE OTHER DAY AT SANTA BARBARA, CALIF., AND AT THE BOTTOM IS THE GIANT SKULL OF THE "SANTA BARBARA MAN," HIMSELF. WORLD'S FIRST LOVE STORY

Of all the prehistoric humans found, Mr. Santa Barbara, missing link between American and European primitives, is the first to bring his wife with him from the tomb of ages.

How these Paleolithic lovers were unearthed is told in the accompanying story. Vaguely but surely it hints the conjugal life of the Stone Time folk.

Before Cain went out to get his wild bride, and when woman the Eve was still an undreamed ideal, this jungle Loolianar of the west had concluded that two could live as cheaply as one in an earth burrow.

He may have crabbled about the dinner and she may have been jealous of the primitive flapper, but, surrounded by such stark terrors and labors as the modern world cannot reach, they somehow muddled through.

In their final attitude is the proof. When ultimate calamity overwhelmed them, "Mr. and Mrs. Santa Barbara" lay down to die together, in wild loyalty.

For them the ritualistic modernism, "Until death do us part," has lasted more than 25,000 years.

Banner Week For Co-Ops In Chatham

CHATHAM, Nov. 10.—The past several days have been hard on runners, the last catch being two men from Petersburg in a Haynes Six car, and 50 gallons of whisky. The catch was made about 10 miles from Chatham by Deputies Claude Adkins and Luther Barber and Constable Frank S. Anderson.

PRIVATE FALLS 200 FEET; KILLED

(By The Associated Press)

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Tragedy opened today's thrill show in which army and navy aviators braved the terrors of the air for the benefit of the Army Relief Society, when Private Aage Rasmussen fell 200 feet to instant death.

Rasmussen, one of Mitchell Fields around crew of 200, failed to release a rope of the Army dirigible TC-2 as he attempted a landing after flying here from the Aberdeen proving grounds in Maryland. A gust of wind sent the big bag rocketing just as the crew had grasped the ropes. All but Rasmussen relinquished their holds.

As gleaming silver bag jumped upward, Rasmussen made futile efforts to climb up the trailing rope, at one time winding it about his leg. But his strength failed him when he was 200 feet above the earth.

MOTORMAN FINDS RELIEF AFTER 6 YEARS' MISERY

Feels Much Better After Taking Paw Paw. —Gets His Conductor to Try It.

"I suffered for six years with stomach trouble," says William B. Parry, widely known Allentown motorman, who lives at 1321 Chew St., Allentown, Pa. "I went to many doctors and tried many medicines, but couldn't get the relief I wanted."

"Like many railway men, I had to snatch my lunches at irregular times. I developed gas pains in my stomach that were constant misery. Sometimes the gas got up around my heart and I thought I had heart trouble and would have to give up working."

Doctors said it was indigestion caused by sluggish liver. I couldn't eat. Food hurt me. At night I would roll and toss in my bed and have terrible dreams and was very constipated.

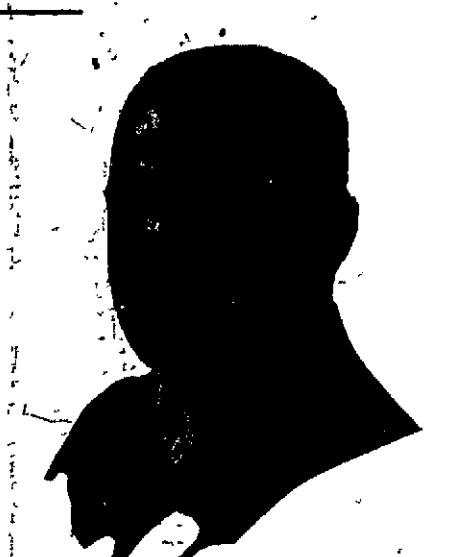

"One day I went in where they were demonstrating Paw Paw and it sounded so sensible to me I thought I would try for relief once more, but to tell the truth I didn't have much hope. I never would have believed what just one bottle of Paw Paw Tonic would do, after what I suffered!

As I took the tonic, the gas began to leave me. I can now eat fine and my food doesn't hurt me. I sleep soundly all night. When I awake, I feel rested. In fact, I feel better than I have for six years."

My bowels move regularly once a day and it is all due to the Paw Paw Tonic (and Paw Paw Pills for Constipation).

"I was so pleased, I got my conductor to try it, believing it would do him great good, too."

Then, do not hesitate one moment to take Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic. Buy a bottle today at your druggist's and get relief. It costs only $1 a bottle, an absurdly low price, in comparison with the good it will probably do you. Get a bottle today. Ask for Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic.

D. M. I. Has Shown Rapid Growth In Past Two Years

Danville Military Institute, now entering its second year under Presbyterian control and the superintendency of Colonel William M. Kemper, with its old standards, is now showing its material circumstances improved, a new mess hall and swimming pool added to its buildings, but have been additions in other departments.

The roster of boarding cadets for the present year represents nearly a hundred per cent. increase over last year, and the faculty has also increased. Captain H. W. Fox is instructor of mathematics and director of athletics, and Captain E. R. Diggs, of West Point, and service both foreign and domestic, leads the English department. Mrs. Diggs, the captain's accomplished wife, adds in no small manner to the social life of the school and the pleasure of its cadets.

More stringent standards than ever are being fixed in academic department. Small class sections, personal instruction and close contact between faculty officers and cadets have made this possible. Thoroughness of the work, and the efficiency of the methods used are the result of pride both in person and instructor, though the present work entailed sometimes seems hard. Emphasis is placed upon thoroughness of foundation, and methods of study are taught, which to the greatest possible extent will produce satisfactory results. Instructors have departmental work only, this enabling them to be more thorough, better posted, and capable of attaining higher efficiency.

The cadet corps is also enjoying the advantages of an increase in enrollment, two companies being had instead of one as of last year. Military work and drill have progressed satisfactorily, and interest has been shown throughout the corps. Skirmish drill, recently given in preparation for the battle had on yesterday on the old Fair Grounds, came much earlier in the year's work than much was expected, and it brought no disappointment. A tense, yet friendly rivalry has been shown by cadets in competition for appointments, and a number of goodnon-commissioned cadet officers may also be seen. The first appointments will probably be had within the coming week, and the publication of these orders is looked forward to with much interest and eagerness. The rapidity with which the military program has proceeded for the year may be attributed to the addition of a new member of the faculty department, namely Captain Elias, Jr., formerly of the school and its cadet corps a full advantage of his experience as an officer with service.

In social life and in friendliness to the cadets, especially the younger ones, the superintendents wife, though not a member of the staff, is most admirable. She successfully plays mother to a number of young cadets, who might feel lost without her.

The literary societies, both Saunders and Harris, have their regular meetings on Friday afternoons, the last academic period being devoted to this work. Debating, reading, declamation and oratory are all tried out by the young would be congressmen, and faculty officers act as critics and constructive critics to the cadet organizations.

With a most trustworthy administration and an earnest faculty, with an increased patronage and an improved plant, the Institute confidently expects to make the present year one worth while.

Mr. and Mrs. Penn and children are expected to be spending the day with Mr. and Mrs. Barker Penn.

HEARING TO SETTLE RY- DISPUTE ON WEDNESDAY

(By The Associated Press.)
NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 12.—Officials of the Virginia Railway and the two Brotherhoods of Railway Locomotive Engineers and Firemen are now looking forward to the hearing before the United States Railroad Labor Board Wednesday to settle the dispute over which approximately 400 engineers and firemen of the road are now on strike.

Representatives of both the road and the strikers left for Chicago where the hearing is to be held. Vice President C. H. Hix heads the delegates that will present the Virginia's side of the controversy, while the Engineers and Firemen are represented by committee headed by G. Griffing, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

In the meantime the strike is still in progress and strike directors contend that it is 100 per cent effective, although officials of the Virginia say the passenger service of the road never has been interrupted and the freight somewhat handicapped during the first two days of the strike, is rapidly getting back toward normal. On the day of the strike began, last Thursday, Vice President Hix, of the Virginia, was authorized by telegram from the Railroad Labor Board, to fill the places of the striking engineers and firemen, and on Saturday Mr. Hix announced that he had taken steps to employ new men as they were needed.

At the hearing on Wednesday, officials of the Virginia will charge that the strike was illegal, in view of an order from the Labor Board on Wednesday, the day before the walkout, that the threat of strike withheld pending the outcome of the hearing before the board. The strike representatives, however, will contend that the order of the Labor Board was received too late to stop the strike.

The situation here and elsewhere along the line of the Virginia today is quiet. Regular passenger trains were operating on schedule time, officials of the road said, and only a few of the freights were held up because of lack of engine crews to operate them.

Thinks U. S. Should Lend Helping Hand In Europe's Chaos

of his work. He did not forget the band. Speaking more seriously of the aspects of Armistice Day Senator Copeland charged that America has forgotten about international justice and the brotherhood of man. He said that the brotherhood of man was a phrase heard five years ago. He reiterated Woodrow Wilson's statement on the failure of America to busy itself with European affairs and deprecated the policy of isolation since the war has Senator Copeland been abroad to visit the battlefields and he gave graphic descriptions of what he had seen. No man, he said, lived through Chateau Thierry without showing qualities of heroism. He described the action. As he turned from the heavy losses sustained in that engagement he paid a glowing tribute to the "Gold Star Mothers"—two of whom were seated on the stage. It was the mothers of the world, he declared, who suffered more than any one else in the struggle. Senator Copeland was vigorous as he expressed his determination to vote for the adjusted compensation bill in the Senate. The difference in the meagre pay given the soldiers at the front and the high prices paid in war industries at home enticed them to the difference.

As the speaker turned from the past to the future, America's role in international affairs came in for discussion in a direct and fearless way. This country, he declared, is still limited to Europe through the multitude of broken hearts, and Europe is asking America to help. He said that the speaker then referred to a recent visit to Poland citing his experiences to reveal the acute economic situation there. He insisted that there was first a definite duty for America to permit the present humanitarian situation. There are, the speaker continued, compelling economic reasons why America should assist in the rehabilitation of European countries. There is no money abroad and American products cannot be purchased. He traced the present situation to the inability to buy abroad. There is the danger also of Europe under-selling America and he cited a recent instance in which woman's garments made in Czechoslovakia were shipped to New York at prices far below the cost of manufacture in this country. "There can be no lasting prosperity in the United States until Europe is re-established and rehabilitated," he said.

Another Armistice Day thought advanced by Senator Copeland was that approved in the American immigration laws which he described as "most unkind and unchristian." Eighty-seven per cent of the immigrants landing in this country, the speaker said, are cleared at New York. He cited instances of cruel treatment through the enforcement of the quota laws and the many physical and mental hardships which result. "There should be a law that rises above the law of God and humanity," he declared.

The speaker's final thought on Armistice Day was the desirability of impressing the youth of the country the ideals of American citizenship. The naturalized alien he said is fired to high resolve on being admitted to citizenship but too little attention is paid to the meaning of citizenship by the youth of this country.

The speaker's final plea was for a reconciliation to the advancement of the high ideals of American citizenship. "The Star Spangled Banner" and benediction by Rev. J. Cleveland Hix, D. D.

The Armistice Day features on Saturday afternoon—a parade of the local military companies and a battle half past three o'clock in the afternoon, near the Old Fair Grounds, were witnessed by thousands of people. It would be hard to estimate the crowds which took posts of vantage over the battle where the maneuver was seen but several thousands of automobiles were parked in different spots. The parade supported by infantry moved in open formation for an attack to capture an eminence before which machine guns and tanks were positioned. The tanks maintained a withering fire with their machine guns and one-on-one tanks on the position while cleverly concealed smoke bombs placed in the ground gave a realistic impression of an actual battle. The capture of the position which was checked midway was consummated after an hour's engagement which was witnessed with interest by the large crowd.

Father and Son Week Topic For Sunday Sermon

With the duty of the father to his son being stressed this week by the Danville Young Men's Christian Association during its observance of "Father and Son Week," Rev. C. H. Harrison, pastor of the Jefferson Avenue Christian Church, on Sunday morning, preached upon the subject of the relationship. The minister took his text from Genesis, xxvii, verse 35, "Thus his father wept for him."

The minister referred to passages in the Old Testament in which paternal affection is recorded and used them to illustrate his sermon. He said, in part: "The responsibilities, tragedies and glories of fatherhood is a theme for poets, dramatists and preachers of righteousness. It is a part of the science of living, that highly complex and difficult matter which has claimed the best thought of the greatest thinkers of the past, and now challenges our statesmen of the better type, our philosophers, our educators, and our vigorous and spiritually-minded dreamers and builders of the better civilization."

"Life is a pilgrimage, a surprising and eventful journey between two eternities, a tremendous and thrilling progression along the years. We call it 'The Way of Life.'"

"Life has been called a voyage. The individual is a ship, and everywhere about one lie the beckoning, challenging waters. Shipmasters, in the old days when the seas were infested with pirates, sometimes put into beautiful, strangely tranquil harbors, only to be trapped and destroyed."

"Jacob wept for Joseph, the son of his old age, and would not be comforted; and well he might, for the lad had entered the port of missing boys. This story had in it a meaning for man and as prime minister of Egypt, provided bountifully for his old father and his unbrotherly brothers."

"Oh Absalom, my son, my son Absalom! Would God I had died for thee, O Absalom, my son, my son! The part of missing boys had claimed a Prince of Israel. Handsome, dashing, debonair, Absalom, the amiable and unscrupulous, was dead in the wood of Ephraim. From the port of missing boys Absalom never returned."

"The chief business of Christianity and education of the better type is to prevent the youth of the world from entering the dreadful port of missing boys. The fine interest and subliming value of the Father and Son relationship is that it makes for sympathetic attitudes and a better understanding on the part of fathers and sons. The thing is of God, and richly merits our deepest sympathies and hearty co-operation. The Father and Son counsels of Deity, when God said: 'Let us make man in our image, after our likeness,' and it will spread and grow till the port of missing boys shall cease to menace."

Wreaths Placed On Tomb Of the Unknown Soldier

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Wreaths were placed on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington, Sunday. The first Armistice Day tribute of the American people to those who died in the winning of the war, was placed there by President Coolidge and the other was laid by Mrs. Coolidge in a special tribute of the American Womanhood of the Unknown dead.

Impressive in its almost completeness of ceremony, the act of tribute to the world war dead was performed by the chief executive yesterday in strict accord with the custom established a year ago by President Harding.

The president, accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, Secretary Weeks of the War Department, and acting Secretary of the Navy, left the White House in the morning to South gate of the National Cemetery where a cavalry escort awaited. Nearing the Memorial Amphitheatre, the party, from there advanced on foot to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier about which an honor guard of marines stood at attention.

Laying the floral tribute upon the marble top, Mr. Coolidge stood with bowed head "a minute and then raised his hand in salute to the honored dead. He was turning to leave when Mrs. Coolidge stepped to the tomb and laid the rosebud near the wreath.

Make Provision For Air Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Estimates approved by the budget director of the Army Air Service during the next fiscal year call for an appropriation of $12,500,000, the same amount appropriated for the present year. By its decision the budget bureau overruled a plan for appropriation of $25,000,000 annually for a period of five years worked out by a special army board. Secretary Weeks, however, hopes that a modification of the ten-year plan, perhaps linking with it a navy air program, can be drawn up in a way that will enable it to reach Congress.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 12.—St. Louis boasts of its pretty bathing girls. And it has a host of them! But the prettiest one of all, critics say, is Harriet J. Melia. She is a telephone operator at the Sidney exchange. And her voice is just as sweet as she is beautiful. Anybody with a Sidney number will vouch for that.

Six Thoroughbreds Entered In Race

(By The Associated Press.)
BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 12.—Six crack thoroughbreds are entered in the Pimlico Cup, $10,000 added, a handicap for three-year-olds and up over two and one quarter miles, the feature of today's card at Pimlico. Rear Admiral Grayson's Mr. Own, despite that he will carry top weight of 123 pounds, is likely to go to the post a hot favorite. Edodus, of the Greentree Stable, is also considered a prime contender for first honors as is E. P. Headley's Chalkie.

Home Stretch, entered by H. Alterman, has followers. Hopeless, another Headley entry, and Frank E. Brown's Ekephastos complete the field. These two will carry the lightest burdens—90 pounds, making the track heavy. As a result Mr. Own was scratched. Sunshine, a mud lark, was added to the list of starters.

Danville Visitors Left Last Night

Senator and Mrs. Royal S. Copeland, of New York and Dr. E. B. Hunt, of Philadelphia, guests of the Danville American Legion on Armistice Day, spent an interesting day in this city on Sunday and left shortly after eight o'clock Sunday night, the last of the city and its people. It was announced at the tabernacle on Sunday afternoon that after supper an informal reception would be held to ex-service men at the Burton Hotel but this had to be abandoned, owing to a change in the hour of departure. Senator and Mrs. Copeland and their son, Royal S. Copeland, Jr., came to Danville on the private car of Dr. Hunt, who is an official of the Pennsylvania railway and it had been planned to attach the special car to the northbound express. It was found during the evening, however, that this train was so heavy that Dr. Hunt's car would have to be attached to the northbound "Stamont Limited," which left here shortly after 8 o'clock. Senator Copeland on hearing of the change, penned a hasty message to the people of the community and gave it to Waverley H. Cousins to be read to those who had met him here. This was a happily phrased letter, in which he expressed thanks for his reception and the determination on his and Mrs. Copeland's part to return some other time.

The visitors were met at the station shortly after ten o'clock Sunday morning and were driven to the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Jennings who entertained them while here. With the party was Mr. Blackwell, Dr. Hunt's private secretary. Dr. Hunt taken sight seen going the city and then returned to the Jennings home for dinner. The evening was spent quietly the entire party proceeding to the tabernacle just before the hour of the service accompanied by the reception committee.

Supper was served at seven at the Burton Hotel, covers being laid for Senator and Mrs. Copeland and their son, Royal S. Copeland, Jr., Dr. E. B. Hunt, Cleveland Hall, D. D. Mayor Wooding, Mrs. W. T. Paxton, Mrs. W. T. Harris, W. C. Griggs, Waverley H. Cousins, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Jennings and Dr. Garrett Johnson.

Mrs. Stokes Trial To Be Heard Now

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Over the protest of counsel for W. E. D. Stokes, who last Friday lost his suit for divorce from Helen Elwood Stokes, supreme court Justice Wesservogel today ordered an immediate trial of the separation suit. Mrs. Stokes filed against her husband last week. At the request of Mrs. Stokes' attorneys the court ordered the separation suit put on the calendar in the morning order. It is considered unlikely, however, that the case will be reached today. Stokes counsel had asked for a two weeks adjournment.

VIRGINIA TEAMS LUCKY AT HOME BUT NOT AWAY

(By The Associated Press.)
RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 12.—Gridiron invaders of Virginia over the week-end fared badly, but, on the other hand, state invaders of foreign fields were just as luckless, this being particularly true of the heretofore undefeated Washington and Lee squad which fell before the strong West Virginia University eleven at Charleston, West Virginia Saturday by the overwhelming odds of 63 to 0.

In the "at home" game Virginia Military Institute romped on the University of North Carolina team at Richmond, 29-0. Virginia Tech won from North Carolina State at Norfolk, 16-0 and William and Mary beat Delaware at Williamsburg 14-0. Virginia fell before University of Georgia at Athens, Georgia, 18-0 and the University of Richmond squad was swamped by Rutgers at New Brunswick 56-0. Randolph-Macon and Lynchburg and Hampden-Sydney trounced Emory and Henry at Hampden-Sydney 20-0.

Although West Virginia was given a superior rating over Washington and Lee's Generals before Saturday's contest, it was not expected by even the most optimistic Mountaineer supporters that such a crushing defeat of a team that stood at the head of the South Atlantic division ranking was likely. The Mountaineers scored at will and at all times kept their own goal clear of danger.

WILSON'S RADIO ADDRESS MAY REVIVE LEAGUE

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—President Wilson's radio address Saturday night is expected to be the signal for a new drive to revive the League of Nations and other schemes to make the United States a more direct participant in the affairs of Europe.

With the convening of Congress less than a month off Democratic senators are hopeful that Mr. Wilson's speech will furnish them with a sort of guide for dealing with the foreign policy which President Coolidge is expected to reveal in his annual message.

The ex-president, it is reported, has never permitted his faith in the League to be shaken not even when Senator Mussolini declared so categorically in the Graceland Italian crisis last summer. He is not willing that the Democratic party should abandon the League and his utterances Saturday night, it is generally expected, will be a last effort to keep the issue alive so that it may not be entirely forgotten when the Democratic platform is drafted next year.

This prospect is not so pleasing to Democratic leaders, particularly to those who expect to be candidates for the presidency. They are hopeful, however, that Mr. Wilson will give them counsel and guidance concerning the world court or any other international arrangement which the administration may put forward.

The outlook for the court as the situation stands today is far from promising. Republican leaders who have been conferring with President Coolidge recently believe that he is getting further away from the world court idea all the time. The protocol providing for America's admission to membership in the court is still in the hands of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, dominated by ir-reconcilables and some observers would not be surprised if it never emerged from the committee room during the approaching session. Its chances of reaching the floor of the Senate depends largely upon President Coolidge's attitude. Some Senators believe that the president will do nothing more than mention in his annual message that the protocol is still awaiting action and let it rest there. If he does adopt this course, the protocol probably will remain just where it is.

On the other hand, if the question of ratification is forced to a showdown in the Senate, indications are that the protocol would have only a slender chance of success. Democratic senators are saying that they would never vote to ratify with such drastic reservations as those suggested by the late President Harding in his St. Louis speech. Most Republican Senators will never vote for it without such reservations.

SSS Makes You Feel (The Younger Again)

LIFE TO BE 20 YEARS LONGER?

By STEVE HANNAGAN

NEA Service Staff Writer.
NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Twenty years will be added to the average span of life within the next 50 years. At least this is the plan to which the American Public Health Association recently dedicated itself.

Two million dollars will be spent in three communities—rural, city and congested tenement—within the next five years in an effort to stamp out many of the frequent causes of death. The money will come from the Milbank Memorial Fund.

The tests will be conducted in Cattaraugus county, a typical rural district in the western part of New York State with a population of 72,000, and in the city of Syracuse, N. Y., which has a population of 175,000. A tenement section comprising 200,000 is yet to be chosen.

The results of these tests, if they are successful, will be offered to every community in the United States.

"We hope to make all local health departments as active, vital and efficient as the best fire and police departments," said John A. Kingsbury, former commissioner of public welfare in New York City, and secretary of the Milbank Fund. He is the man entrusted with the expenditure of the $2,000,000, which will be matched practically dollar for dollar by the communities in which the interesting tests will be conducted.

People Interested.
"If the causes of premature death can be eradicated in three representative communities, they can be excluded or at least reduced, all localities," he pointed out. "If we are successful in the test centers as we hope to be, we are confident that people throughout the country will insist on the adoption of the successful health regulations."

"It is all a part of the plan to increase the span of life 20 years. We hope to be assisted in our work through the cooperation of all the regular established health and social organizations."

The first two years of life are the hardest, 1910 figures show. When a child was born it was immediately allotted 51.1-2 years by the statisticians. If he got over the two years successfully six years were added to his prospective span on earth.

At the age of ten, kiddies had a better paper chance of reaching old age than the day they were born—but after that the chances began to proportionately diminish with each succeeding year.

Upon reaching the age of forty 23.2 more years were added and at 51 a one-way ticket to the 71-year station was handed out by the chart makers.

At the ripe age of 50 the odds shifted to 2.3 more years of life—and at 100 the word went out, "He'll live just 1.85 more years." After the century mark the books were closed.

COFFIN OF TSAR FOUND EMPTY

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The Tsar Alexander I died, according to the records, on November 19, 1925, at Tsarskoye, a small town in the south of Russia, and was afterwards buried in the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul in St. Petersburg. It has now been discovered that the coffin bearing his name is empty. The strange story, with some of its implications, is told by Princess E. M. Almetdingen in "Discovery."

It was rumored (she writes) that the Tsar had died from some infectious disease, and, in consequence of this, the coffin, said to contain his body, was sealed up immediately. Very few of the courtiers were enabled to see the corpse, which was soon afterwards transported to St. Petersburg, and there laid to rest in the usual burial-ground of the sovereigns of all the Russians—the magnificent Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul, erected by Peter the Great, within the precincts of the famous fortress bearing the same name. However, soon after the Emperor's burial, strange things began to be whispered with regard to the fate of the much-beloved Tsar. People said that he had not died at all but had just disappeared in order to consecrate the rest of his days to God's service and work and prayer. These rapidly spread rumors, together with the slender evidence which existed even then concerning the authenticity of the body placed in the coffin, gave birth to a series of legends based upon a firm popular belief that the Emperor was still alive. I would come back to rule his people once more.

PEARL TURNER IS DISCOVERED

FORT SMITH, Ark., Nov. 10.—Pearl Turner, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynne Turner of Scott county, missing from her home since October 19, was found tonight at Picher, Oklahoma, in the boarding house of Mrs. B. D. Wells.

In a telephone communication with the Southwest Times Record, Mrs. Wells said the child had been in her care since October 21. Identification was obtained by scars on the child. Sheriff Charles Allen of Idmon, Arkansas, announced he would leave immediately for Picher to return the child to its parents.

DAILY PUZZLE

THAT SPAR IS COMING LOOSE!!
When the second mate made the above declaration, he did not know that his simple sentence concealed the name of a large city. The name is there, however. Can you find it? The name of a famous resort is there, too.

Yesterday's answer:

To make a circle one-half the area of the large one, draw two straight lines at right angles to each other, each line passing through the center of the circle. Construct a square by connecting the ends of these lines. Then draw a circle within the square. It will be half the size of the large circle.

A simple proof of this is shown by drawing an outer square. It is obviously twice the size of the inner square; and the ratio of the circles is the same.

JNO. A. KINGSBURY IN CHARGE OF MILBANK MEMORIAL FUND MILLIONS

In 1921 the mortality rate was lowest and the expectancy of life highest. Infants born in that year could look forward to 58.1 years of living. With the proposed 20 years added, infants of the future will start at scratch with 78.1 years to go.

Advancement.
The life span was extended more in 1921 than in the previous decade. In 1922 the record was almost as good as in 1921. The first six months of 1923 show an improvement over 1922 and may excel the 1921 record, the best ever registered.

"The purpose of the tests," said Mr. Kingsbury, "is to determine which diseases more readily yield to concerted attack."

The work will be thorough, beginning before children are born and continuing most intensively during the first three years of life—during the dangerous age. All diseases will be taken up in the order of their destructive tendencies in relation to longer life.

Mrs. Elizabeth Milbank Anderson, founder of a $10,000,000 fund for constructive health measures, was the daughter of Jeremiah Milbank, wealthy New York merchant. She died in 1921.

PEKING, Nov. 10.—Chinese police at Harbin Manchuria, fired upon Russians marching in a parade in celebration of the anniversary of the bolshevik revolution, wounding four. The American consul here telegraphs that further trouble is expected.

Butter feeling exists between the Chinese and bolsheviks owing to the former's fear that the Russians may seize the Chinese eastern Railway. This feeling has caused both to increase their forces on the frontier. The situation has been aggravated by the subsequent arrest of Chinese and British customs officials, whom were inspecting the frontier near Manchouli, both being detained for some hours.

MRS. STILLMAN WILL FIGHT NEW DIVORCE TRIAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Denying that she had written the so-called "confession" letter to her husband, Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, through her attorney, John P. Brennan, today indicated that she will fight the action of James A. Stillman in seeking a new divorce trial to the last ditch. The letter in question which was made public on Wednesday when Stillman died an appeal, implied that little Guy Stillman was the son of Fred Beauvais, an Indian guide.

Brennan denied he had described the letter as a forgery, but said that Mrs. Stillman in her affidavit had denied ever having written any of the letters submitted by her husband, including the "confession" letter. Mrs. Stillman, who is said to be in Canada, is now being paid $40,000 alimony yearly. Briefs of rebuttal will Monday fair.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1923.
 THE SWING BACK TO WILSON

Whatever may be the physical condition of Woodrow Wilson's, it is apparent that there is no decay in his mental fabric and he is still the lucid and deep thinker that made him a force to be reckoned with in the councils at Versailles. More plain common sense was contained in his brief address by wireless telephony
 on Saturday than in any of the official diatribe which have come from governmental quarters or men of note in this country since the European impasse assumed such a critical juncture. Woodrow Wilson never quibbled with the truth as president and statesman, there never was any political unctuousness about his declarations on any given subject. On Saturday night it was made clear once more that though he has been brought with gray hair and sorrow to the brink of the grave, he still is imbued with a sense of justice outraged in the American policy of isolation which has withheld that helping hand from America which is so sorely needed in that part of the world which American fighting men invaded to make the world safe for democracy—a hollow and meaningless phrase when measured by the degree of degeneration which has fallen over Europe.

The world-wide interest displayed on Saturday in Mr. Wilson's utterance—the first public utterance since he entered into the seclusion of private life—is another token of not only a lingering affection for the man but respectful interest in the present day views of the man who visualized the Europe of today four years ago and who expounded a new doctrine of international fellowship.
 Mention of Wilson's name at any public gathering in the South since he left the White House has invariably been met with a demonstration.
 This has been in a large measure an evidence of loyalty to a Southern man. There is a new meaning in the response which mention of his name is evoking everywhere and one senses in the widespread interest in his speech of Saturday and then again yesterday recognition of the fact that he was not a false prophet and that "Wilsonian idealism" as it was sometimes sarcastically referred to, today offers food for sober reflection.

ADVERTISING AS A SCIENCE
 Like all things, advertising has had an evolution. A century ago the leading merchants resorted to what is now the classified ad and the modern display ad was unknown. The store which a century ago purchased newspaper advertising in quantities of a half dozen lines weekly now contracts for one and two pages daily and the landlady advertising for a roomer or a young lady seeking a lost cat consumes more space in the newspaper of today than the most thriving merchant of yesterday.

As in quantity, so has advertising had an evolution of quality. Within the shopping memory of the present generation the advertisement both newspaper and magazine has risen from a relation of articles and prices to attractive displays artistically phrased, graphically illustrated and in the case of magazines often beautifully lithographed. The modern advertisement is not a narration of goods and prices; it is storehouse of information about buying, styles, thrift and economy. The public once complained of spending a penny for a newspaper and getting 50 per cent.
 more or less, of its paper in advertising. Now magazines are purchased by many for their advertisements alone and as for the newspaper the advertisements form an important part of the day's reading. The following paragraphs, selected from an advertisement of a Los Angeles furniture merchant provide a specimen of the artistry which can be found in modern advertising. The advertiser is not unmindful of nor ungrateful for prevailing public interest in the advertisement, truthfully and attractive, such as this:

 "Home weaves the fabric of our lives. It is the loom for the tapestry of our days. That the fabric may be rich in color, gracious in texture, distinguished in design, the warp
 and weft must need be skillfully employed.
 "If we would weave our existence
 from end to end, margin to margin, into a tapestry of happiness and high accomplishment we must employ within our homes the things which make for successful living."

PUBLIC INTEREST IN SPEED
 Speed is the most interesting thing to this generation. News that an airman flies at a rate of more than four and a half miles a minute takes precedence as news over grave speeches by world statesmen, European revolution, banditry at home.
 But that speed by Brow and Williams is not of interest chiefly in and of itself, but because it holds out promise of something—in the not too distant future—that may save a half-hour a day for many millions. Turn anywhere and the thing that most interests the multitude is speed. In every great American city, the topic of discussion is traffic, how to speed it up. If a new boulevard promises to save a few minutes a day for thousands, the multitude cries "Build it!"
 If a tunnel, a bridge, a subway promises to eliminate wasted hours, citizens demand that it be bored
 built, digged.

It is not so long ago that we were content with an easier, wasteful way.
 When the typewriter made its advent,
 many laughed. But the typewriter taught man the economy, the ease, the joy of speed. Quickly followed intensive use of wires and now wireless; the automobile and now the airplane; the street railway; the elevator; and now the subway. After all, time is our most precious earthly possession. We are here such a little while.

YOUR HEALTH
 BY DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

HEALTHY LUNGS
 Healthy lungs simply mean lungs
 that are unimpaired by disease germs and respond to the free elastic movements of the chest, ribs, intercostal muscles and diaphragm in the process of breathing.

Strictly speaking, there are no healthy lungs. All are more or less impaired, through invading dust, inhaling smoke and disease during childhood. Germs and microbes of many kinds are great intruders to the lungs by mouth breathing.

The bronchi and trachea have hair-like processes on the mucous membrane of their walls which sweep their best to expel minute foreign bodies and microbes from entering the lungs. But in spite of all efforts, these germs do get in and cause
 such disease as influenza, bronchitis, pneumonia and tuberculosis.

The lungs in a pure healthy condition are a pearly white. Eskimos have the nearest approach to such lungs. The lungs of the city dweller are gray. The coal miner's lungs are much darker, sometimes nearly approaching black.

This does not mean that almost everybody has diseased lungs. The great majority are in fairly good condition, due principally to the fact that the lungs are great recuperative powers. In fact, they are almost as good in this respect as the overused and much-abused heart.

To help your lungs in the fight against germs and disease you must at all times carefully observe the correct rules of respiratory health. The chest will not work in first-class condition if bent out of shape and restricted through improper posture, in its muscular movements. By keeping up your gymnastics and deep breathing exercises you can aid your lungs to healthy old age.

Remember that the lungs are a great aid to the heart in keeping up a good blood circulation. Well-developed lungs, combined with good breathing exercises, are a wonderful aid to your heart in its work for a long life.

GAS IN CHICAGO
 DROPS TO 14C
 (By Chicago Tribune Service)
 CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Motorists in Chicago territory will awake tomorrow morning to discover that gasoline took another drop of two cents a gallon overnight. This price, 14 cents, will be posted at all filling stations, Standard and independent, and will be the lowest in many years in the middle west.

The Standard of Indiana, operating in eleven midwestern states, announced the slash this evening and the independents followed suit as soon as they heard of it.

The Standard people attribute the cut to "present conditions in the gasoline market," referring to the price of crude oil in the last two days.

The independents expect prices of crude oil to decline still further, but do not anticipate any large number of factors of them will trim their sales and pull through. It is expected the price of gasoline will be cut in various parts of the country
 after following the lead of Chicago.

It must be noted that the cut here does not put it in line with other areas coming in.

DRAKES BRANCH, Nov. 12.— (Grapevine Wireless).—This is the last day, so snap to it and close the Community Chest—close it filed to the top. Only seven thousand dollars
 needed to reach the goal.
 It can be done. It must be done. With a population of 25,000 (including Schoolfield) and over 5,000 registered voters in the city,
 a conservative estimate of adult residents would be somewhere between seven and ten thousand.
 Of this number only 1,399
 had contributed up to Saturday night! Where are the other four or five thousand? Surely a community effort of this character,
 with its tremendous appeal and urgent need, shall not fail when a few dollars from each of the faltering ones will put it over.

Do not wait for someone to call upon you again just grab a telephone and call headquarters at the Y. M. C.
 A. and tell 'em, "PUT ME DOWN
 FOR SO MUCH, THANK YOU!"
 In addition to their own liberal subscriptions a hundred men and women have given an entire week to the drive. How can any of us stand back and refuse even a small part in this worthy undertaking?

Do not let the sun go down today
 without lending a helping hand.
 Count it a privilege that you are able to do something—AND DO IT NOW!

The outstanding feature of yesterday's Armistice Day program, aside from Senator Copeland's splendid address, was the music rendered by the Schoolfield Band. It was a revelation and delight to the three or four thousand people assembled at Ridge Street Tabernacle, and unstinted praise was heard on every side. Few cities in the country, certainly very few in the Danville, can boast such a talented organization. Our congratulations to those who have fostered and trained this splendid aggregation of musicians!

Armistice Day celebration will be concluded with the presentation of the picture, "The Man Without a Country," at the Broadway today and tomorrow. The whole program has been a success and the Danville Post of the American Legion deserves great credit.

 me kiss you. What must I give him to make him keep quiet about it?"
 The Girl: "He usually gets a half

Echo Answers.
 She: "Fess up, now, that you men like talkative women as well as you like others."
 He: "What others?"

Another Definition.

 life, expressed in the highest type of self-control and charity."

Seems Fair Enough.
 Laborer: I'd like to get some time
 off to get a hair cut.
 Foreman: A hair cut! On company time?
 Laborer: Well, don't it grow on company time?

The school teacher asked an old colored man: "Ulysses! Is pants a common noun?" "Pants are an uncommon noun, Professa." "How common?" "Uncommon." "Bezo, Professa," pants ain't singular at the top, and plural at the bottom."

Excusable.
 KRIS: "Has he ever been known to lose his lungs?"
 KROSS: "Only when he finds it on the shoulder of a pretty girl."

A Paying Suggestion.
 KRIS: "I understand Miss Swift has a new car."
 KROSS: "Yes, she used a little auto-suggestion upon young Rich."

It is all very well to tell your wife everything, but it is better to tell her first.

Love's Blindness.
 He kissed me and we parted
 So filled with ecstasy
 That he fell over a hydrant.
 And I ran against a tree.

If you want to know what kind of

 he has nothing to do."

MYSTERY
 Rafael Schermann, known to Vienna police as "the man with the X-ray eyes," visits America. He's said to have an uncanny ability to look at a bit of handwriting and be able to tell all about the man who wrote it.
 He has helped the police solve many a baffling mystery.

In America, Schermann will demonstrate before scientists. He comes at the psychological moment. The nation is swept by a wave of interest in the psychic. These waves come roughly every 50 years, following big wars.

TERRIBLE
 Lord Curzon in his book goes Edgar Allan Poe one better in telling about an Amur of Afghanistan, sold to a man by the name of Bala. He had 120,000 of his own people. Another time he had 10,000 enemies blinded by quicklime, then turned loose in the wilderness. The star act was taking prisoners to a mountain top during zero weather, pouring water in them until they were encased in solid ice, up to their heads, then left to die.

While taking with a grain of salt
 the stories about this barbarian we can't help reflecting that maybe civilization is more of a success than we realize.

PARADISE
 Australian newspaper reports that Tonga, in the South Pacific, is the only country in the world without a national debt. All schools are free, and the government also pays the doctors, medical officers, and other charges to the people. The only taxes are low tariffs and about $4
 a year paid by all males over 16.
 Tonga has 25,000 inhabitants, all of them of sports, telephones and radio.
 Tonga people apparently aren't paying for a lot of former wars.

editor of a Virginia paper threatens to bring charges of manslaughter against some of the delinquent subscribers if he is shot at and the bullet takes effect because he doesn't have silver dollars in his pocket which they owe him.

The woman who cries doesn't get half as much as the woman who merely threatens to cry.

An advertisement on the front page of the Mulhall, Okla. State Journal read:
 "For Sale—Country newspaper and white robe at a bargain if taken quick."

In an ad recently inserted in the paper, a lost bulldog is described as having "A pink in his tail, a turned-

Hypocrisy: Pretending you'd rather

 Nor in the vestibule,
 Nor on the dizzy joy ride,
 But on the lips, you fool!

There is said to be a girl in one of the colleges who is so dumb that she thinks a timetable has legs.

"For goodness sake don't put that item in the paper," Jefferson street woman is quoted as saying when she left town on a visit. "One of my friends heard I am going, she'll try to steal my wash woman. She nearly did it the last time I left town."

Have you ever noticed how much easier it is to get by on a poor excuse than it is with a good one?

A home girl has no chance in a small town for the same reason that the moon doesn't impress a night

COUNTY POULTRY SHOW
 AT CHATHAM YESTERDAY

The Pennsylvania County Poultry Show held at Chatham yesterday was a decided success from the number of birds shown and the interest taken by the boys and girls of the County Poultry Club. The show was fostered by County Agent Elkin, the prizes belonged to the local business men and banks. Many fine birds were sold after the show.

TRIP
 Animal life first appeared on earth
 in the Gobi desert of China, according to scientific theory. That theory has been proved by the recent excavations claims the archaeologist, R. C. Andrews. He believes that the diggers will unearth skeletons of prehistoric men which would make the Gobi desert the most probable cradle of the human race.

For every scientist who is investigating the ultimate destination of humanity, there are hundreds trying to discover where mankind started.
 They can't dig up the Hereafter with a shovel and sand, but the one who tries is a fraud and humbug.

NOISE Sound-proof apartment houses are close at hand. Boston is building several, walls so deened that a piano or riddle cannot be heard in neighbor apartments. Joseph Pulli-zer had a sound-proof room in his Bar Harbor home.

In various ways man tries to escape from the prison (civilization) in which he has walled himself. Disorderly noise is part of the prison.
 Destroying nervous systems. Soundproof home would be the next best

SCHOOLS
 New York City has 355,000 pupils
 in its schools, and 377,000 of them are on part time or credit shifts because of the shortage of school buildings and seats.

It's a rare city that doesn't have a similar situation.

One reason is that cities try to build monumental school buildings when wooden structures, such as were used in army training camps,
 would serve just as well—temporarily at least—until our civilization figured out how to get as many seats in school houses as it provides for audiences without difficulty.

"THE FOOL"
 BY CHANNING FOLLOCK

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 Clara Jewett, in love with the Reverend Daniel Glitchrist, marries
 Jerry Goodkind for his money.
 Daniel is dismissed from the pastory Church of the Nativity in New York because of his radical sermons.

"Overcoat Hall," a refuge for the unemployed, is established by Gilchrist. George Goodkind, Jerry's father, calls and orders Daniel to cease seeing Clara, who frequently visits the hall to help Glitchrist.

Pearl Hennig comes in and warns Daniel that her husband is out to "get" him. Clara comes to tell that she has left Jerry. Daniel sends her back home and she returns to her husband.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
 "Ain't you well, Mr. Glitchrist?"
 she asked, alarmed.

"Just tired," he said, not moving.
 "Maybe you ain't believin' hard enough," she said naively. He looked up now. It was what he had needed.
 He smiled at her and straightened.
 "It's most time for the meeting,"
 she added.

Grubby came back now with a tray loaded high with sandwiches. In his trail came several others, for the meeting. There was Mrs. Mulligan, swaying a bit with liquor and glad to find a warm place to enjoy her semi-sober state. There were Mr.
 and Mrs. Henchley, he a middle-aged locksmith, not without reserve, and she towering above him formidably.

"Good evening, Mrs. Mulligan," said Mary Margaret pleasantly.
 "It is not," the red-faced woman
 retorted.

The others held the evening in better repute, however, and returned Mary Margaret's greeting with good grace, and that of Glitchrist, too.
 "I guess we're early," said Mr.
 Henchley to Daniel.

"Yes," followed up his wife. "I wanted to speak to you—about Mr.
 Henchley's pants."
 "Mr. Henchley's what?" asked Daniel curiously.

"Pants," reiterated Mrs. Henchley.
 "I took out a spot—with gasoline—and hung 'em on the fire escape that runs across from this house, and tonight they was gone, and I think you ought to look into your lodgers."

"Good evening, everybody," The others acknowledged the greeting of a tall, angular Jewess, a garment worker, but almost scholarly in appearance.

"Good evening, Miss Levinson," said Daniel.
 "I've brought back your book," she said, handing a volume to Glitchrist.
 "What're you been reading?"
 queried Mrs. Henchley.

"George Bernard Shaw," the girl answered evenly.
 "I expose you ain't read 'The Sheik'?"

"We've been reading 'Caesar and Cleopatra' together," put in Glitchrist.
 "That's where we got the quotation
 on the board. I've jumbled it a bit.
 He turned to the board and read:
 "And so, to the end of history, he shall breed hate, murder shall breed murder, until the gods create a race
 that can understand."

"That's it, isn't it?" said Miss Levinson.
 "I doo sung open violently interrupted her. It was Pearl Hennig.
 breathless.

"Mr. Glitchrist," she demanded.
 Daniel turned to her calmly.
 "Oh, he's you, Pearl. I thought you'd gone."

"He's been watchin' and I've got to speak to you—quick!" She was twitching nervously.
 "In just a few minutes!" Daniel turned back to Miss Levinson.

"Now!" shouted Pearl excitedly.
 "Joe's out there!"
 Mrs. Mulligan recounted the disturbance of her door.
 "Aw, shut up," she blurted.
 "Mrs. Mulligan!" admonished On-christ. "Pearl—you're interrupting

 you were saying, Miss Levinson."
 "We seem to have hated everything different from ourselves—Miss Levinson went on—"in

ing three first downs, and yet on the sixteenth attempt, when the Hope punter fell back to kick, he stood on his own 25-yard line, 10

yards back of the place where the ball had originally been recovered here's how it happened:

On the first three plays, Hope lost

10 yards. On the fourth down, the troit broke through and blocked the punt, which, however, was recovered by the visitors. This gave the Hope backs had been thrown on 12 occasions for losses totaling 40 yards.

Thus had Hope not gained an without a single penalty but had lost 40 yards in so doing. It's one

Three Co-Eds Held As Result Of Auto Fatality

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—University of Wisconsin co-eds are held in Chicago heights pending an investigation into the automobile accident near there last night in which three persons were killed. No charges have been placed against the girls. They were returning to Madison from the Illinois-Wisconsin football game. Those killed were John Murphy, 48, of Chicago Heights and Mr. R. Erb, 25. Two other occupants of the cars were uninjured. The co-eds, Miss Florence Killilea, of Milwaukee, Miss Katherine Kenne, of Youngstown, Pa., and Miss Margaret Beranek, of Milwaukee, were in a car driven by Miss Killilea. According to the story of the tragedy tried to pass them, hit their car and a man in a blue sweater over to the side of the road and crashed into a telephone pole.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croscote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by 125 medical fraternities as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung trouble. Creomulsion is in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation. While the creosote goes on to the stomach, it is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption. Creomulsion is guaranteed safe. It is the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, whooping cough, and other forms of lung trouble. It is the best for building up the system and for colds or cold, no matter of how standing, is not relieved after taking. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

GERMANY STRONG IN BUSINESS IF MONEY VALUELESS

(By GRAFTON WILCOX)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Despite the fall in the value of the mark to almost 11. Germany as a whole is still a powerful country in business, agriculture and trade according to a review of economic conditions in Europe by Basil Miles, of the International Chamber of Commerce, made public by the United States Chamber of Commerce here today.

Passive resistance, Mr. Miles says, would seem to have caused the death of the German mark, whose foreign exchange value "has now fallen to figures composed of a most wholly 'cross' the effect on business is in some cases resulting in almost complete paralysis," he adds. "The uncertainty of business life has been multiplied by many times. Unemployment is increasing rapidly. The League for October 1, according to an unofficial estimate being $90,000,000. Political conditions are as yet in such a state of flux that they present more heavily than ever on business."

Germany as a whole is still a powerful country in business, agriculture and trade. Purchases by Germany from the United States in the first six months of 1923, he points out, aggregated more than $142,000,000, or 150 times the amount of currency in circulation in Germany on September 15.

"The industrial plant of Germany," said Mr. Miles, "is better than it was before the war. Indeed, the danger is that it is over-developed. The crops this year are generally good, in some instances being the best for 15 years or more. The transportation and communication system is intact. Large sections of the people are still in tolerable circumstances and it is said that the farmer is generally prosperous."

"The occupation of the Ruhr as a punitive measure if it results shortly in co-operation between the French authorities and the German industrial groups for renewed production, as would seem highly probable, will have definitely advanced the ultimate reparations settlement."

"The rest of Europe awaits the result. Good crops and a gradual reanimation of the old courses of trade, supplemented by new trade relations, promise well for the future when a reparations settlement is reached."

Miss Louise Penick has returned home after visiting relatives in Martinsville, Va.

Plan Would Take American Flag From Off Seas

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Resolutions adopted by the American Marine Congress in New York, if followed, would mean "the unthinkable withdrawal of adequate American flag representation of the seas. Commissioners Frederick L. Thompson and Edward C. Plummer of the Shipping Board declared in a joint statement issued last night. They characterized the resolutions as substantially a reiteration of the program put forward last March by the American S. S. Owners Association and unanimously rejected by the board.

Acting Chairman O'Connor also was of the opinion the resolutions offered no workable solution of the shipping problem. Transfer of the government's usable tonnage without restriction to private owners, he said, could only mean the ultimate and early scrapping of the entire fleet or its transfer to foreign owners.

"The resolutions adopted by the American Marine Congress," the statement issued by Commissioner Thompson and Plummer said, "which specifically proposed (1) the destruction of a certain portion of the steel ships owned by the government; (2) the sale of such remaining portion to American citizens as they may desire to buy, such sale to be without restriction; and (3) the destroying of all remaining ships, no matter how fine may be their condition or how essential their preservation, is but the substance of the same proposal made to the United States Shipping Board by the American S. S. Owners Association on March 26, 1923, at which time such suggestion was unanimously rejected by the Shipping Board."

"If followed, the ultimate effect would be an unthinkable withdrawal of adequate American flag representation on the seas, for ships sold to American ship owners, without restriction, would permit the purchasers of such ships to be free to transfer them to the owners or operators of foreign nations. To sell a few ships under such conditions and to bind the government to destroy the remaining ships not sold would have the eventual result of abandonment of the national effort represented in the Merchant Marine Act and its modification."

"It is conceivable that foreign nations, by indirect method, could well afford to purchase a few hundred of the ships owned by the government to bring about the elimination of American flag operation, removing thereby protection to the American producer and the American manufacturer through such ocean freight rate protection as the American flag fleets now insure. Elimination of American flag operation would place the American farmer and the American manufacturer at the mercy of foreign shipping interests and would remove that potential element of naval auxiliary from control of the United States in time of national emergency."

M'ADOO IS TO ANNOUNCE HIS CANDIDACY SOON

(By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—William Gibbs M'Adoo, former secretary of the treasury and son-in-law of Woodrow Wilson, will announce his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for president at an assemblage of his friends and admirers at his California home in the near future.

Mr. M'Adoo has been foregathered for more than a week foregathered with political cronies, laying plans for his contest for the nomination and explaining that while he is a candidate for the honor he is not ready to say so right out loud. At the end of this week, however, Mr. and Mrs. M'Adoo, who has been visiting her father, will leave for California where the formal announcement of the M'Adoo aspiration to presidential honors will be staged.

That Mr. M'Adoo is a candidate and a formidable contender for the leadership of his party in the 1924 election has been recognized for months and his formal announcement will not illuminate the situation particularly until it discloses his position on some of the issues he has appeared to be reluctant to discuss of late and reveals his attitude toward rival contenders.

The former treasury head has had several talks with Mr. Wilson but has confessed to his intimates that he does not know whether he has his father-in-law's blessing in his undertaking to win the Jeffersonian nomination. Mr. Wilson, it appears, has been reluctant to commit himself on candidacies in his conversation with his son-in-law.

It was the failure of Mr. Wilson to declare himself not a candidate in 1920 which impelled Mr. M'Adoo to refuse to become an active aspirant to an honor which, for all he knew, his father-in-law might covet. That situation will not obtain this time, for Mr. M'Adoo is going to be an active and aggressive and avowed candidate, even if his father-in-law does not consent to his candidacy any more than in 1920.

Mr. Wilson is still a power in the Democratic party and is widely regarded as able to mobilize that portion of the party which still ardently wishes the entrance of the United States into the League of Nations. Mr. M'Adoo once was a pillar in that portion of the party but is no longer so conspicuous among the leaders. He is reported to have been recently when a member of the high school faculty bought a new car, and was tendered a party to honor the occasion. Each guest brought an auto accessory as a gift.

NEW PENETRATION TREATMENT FOR PYORRHOEA CASES

Dentists say that a great majority of people either have Pyorrhoea (Riggs Disease) or Pyorrhoeal tendencies. The beginning is sore, receding or bleeding gums, sensitive or loose teeth, pus pockets and bad odors. Pyorrhoea not only affects the gums and teeth, but also your general health, as the pus, which is very poisonous, is absorbed into the system, causing serious stomach troubles, the results of which are sometimes fatal.

You can now treat pyorrhoea at home and get relief with formula known as Creosene, the new discovery that, through penetration, carries powerful but harmless germicidal, of which creosote (the greatest germ-destructor, tissue-preserving agency known and used by dentists for years) is the base, right to the roots of the teeth, killing the pyorrhoea germs, making the gums healthy, tightening up and preserving the teeth, healing pus pockets, relieving pain and destroying odors caused by decayed or abscessed teeth.

Creosene is pleasant to use, and should be used by every one who wears a plate, as it keeps the gums firm and healthy and free from pain. $1.00 at your druggist and your money back if it fails. Creosene Co., Atlanta, Ga.—adv.

Cant Stop Joint Ease

"You can't stop people from buying Joint-Ease for sore throat and cold in chest," writes one of our druggist friends. "They say it's the best ever."

We know that, of course, but please remember that Joint-Ease is for stiff, swollen painful joints, whether rheumatic or not, and its tremendous sale for that purpose proves that it is the one joint remedy that gets the most satisfying results. # This Little World

(By A. H. FREDERICK)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—While cafes, cabarets and other adjuncts of the once brilliantly lighted night life of San Francisco fall before the dry era, a strange habit of the pleasure seekers is returning.

That is the habit of "first nighting." In the old days, declares a local theater man, opening plays always had some 200 or 300 regular "first nighters" who reserved their seats by the season and who would sooner miss dinner than an opening performance.

But the war broke in upon the habit, says this man, and the old "first nighters" took more to cards, dancing, auto parties and such, than being first in when the curtain went up.

North Beach resorts are the latest to feel the power of prohibition. There, in the heart of Little Italy, where wine drinking is considered as much—or more—a necessary ritual as washing the face, cafes serve liquor more or less openly long after the downtown cafes sold it not at all, or only by the "back door."

Now Volstead's forces have invaded this territory, too, and many of the Italian cafes have joined the long list of darkened rooms which once housed such famous places as the old Poodle Den, the Oyster Loft, the "Spider," Kelly's, the Midnight Folies and the Pup.

Chico, Calif., claims the latest in "showers." The dainty trousseau shower for the bride-to-be, the linen shower at the first housewarming, and others, pale before the march of 20th century mechanics.

In their place comes the auto party shower. It was inaugurated here recently when a member of the high school faculty bought a new car, and was tendered a party to honor the occasion. Each guest brought an auto accessory as a gift.

Hot dog stands and campers had best give wide berth to Atherton, Cal., latest incorporated millionaire colony of the peninsula.

ASSERTS AVERAGE RURAL LOCALITY IS OVERCHURCHED

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 10.—Asserting that the average rural community is "grossly overchurched," Dr. A. Taylor of Indianapolis today urged to the convention of the American Life Association, in session here, residents of rural districts, cooperation in religion for "the sake of a community." Dr. Taylor is secretary of the Board of Temperance and Social Welfare, Church of Christ (Disciples).

"The average rural community is grossly overchurched," declared Taylor, "and cannot support three or four churches. Most of them without pastor, program or effective means to reach young people. Christianity reaches brotherhood and cooperation. Every other rural institution seeks unity and cooperation. Schools are consolidating, cooperative organizations for market are being formed, and the expression of the essential spirit of friendship and cooperation."

In suggesting that the rural churches "cooperate on the basis of community needs and for the sake of a common service," Dr. Taylor said: "The cooperation will be on the basis of the things held in common. Fellowship will be allowed on all personal differences. All worship the same Father and follow the same Christ. Let each practice the ordinances and keep other items of faith as his conscience dictates, just as is now done. It is quite as easy for neighbors to do that under one roof as under three or four."

means to bring back a husband rather than a husband who uses it for the effect on his wife," declares Commissioner Frank Colburn.

"Every case entails an expense to the city, time of the ambulance, officers and stewards, and it's time this practice was stopped by punishing those who make use of it."

HARNSBERGER'S DEPT. STORE

The Store That Is Always Busy

He thought she would fling herself into his arms. But she walked calmly away—with another man.

As she stood alone on
A rare black northern height;
The ice and snow they swathe it,
As it sleeps there, all in white.
Tis dreaming of a palm tree,
In a far off Eastern land,
That murmurs, alone and silent,
On a ledge of burning sand.
HEINE.

THE FIR AND THE PALM

INSTALLMENT I
A SENSE OF ADVENTURE.

"MADAME la Comtesse est servie."
Helen wondered whether it was possible that eighteen years of her life had been spent with meals at irregular hours and no inevitable half-past one looming in each day with Jean—the deputy of fate, she called him—announcing lunch in tones which showed without a possibility of doubt that life is a well regulated, ordered state, and destiny a benign force over which we have no control.

She had not conquered her unpunctuality by a good resolution; there had simply been no room for it in the emptiness of her new life. She could imagine the proportions that it would have assumed in the leisure of the country, and in London the massed formation of her blazing responsibilities seemed to crowd out anything as intimate and unnecessary as a personal habit.

The all embracing tidiness of her life! She smiled a little. It was, after all, what she had wanted. For the last five years her heart had been a charming, formal garden, full of old fashioned flowers, lavender and sweet geranium, thyme and myrtle.

Her husband had wanted her to throw herself into his arms, and instead she had walked up his marble staircase. His passion for her had made him angular and nervous. In his anxiety not to frighten her he had almost frozen himself.

She thought him wonderful, she admired his character, she reveled in his mind, she delighted in the flavor of his personality—of all of which he was forlornly, impotently conscious.

"You are as unlike other people as peppermints are unlike other sweets," she had told him one day.

"You have always had a taste for me," he probed his own wound.

"A positive craving," she laughed.

She didn't know how much it hurt.

"A positive craving," he thought bitterly. "How little she knows what that means." Today she felt unreasonably lighthearted, with a quiet unfounded sense of adventure in the air. Also Cyril was already four minutes late for lunch.

"I must apologize."

She turned round and looked at her husband with the gift she had of being able, when she wanted, to look at the people she knew best as if she were seeing them for the first time. He was a good deal grayer than he had been when she married him, and his eyes, always set deeply, seemed to have sunk still farther into his head. His expressive thin lips fitted together more tightly than they had done; certain little wrinkles which had once come and gone with his smiles had decided to stay permanently. Altogether his sensitive, distinguished face seemed to have set into a certain rigidity. He had won his daily battle of suppression.

"I am sorry I am late," he said as she slipped her arm into his.

"Think how glad I am," she laughed, "how I welcome every little symptom of fallibility."

She thought she saw a little cloud on his face.

They walked in to lunch together.

"Your colleague, the Almighty, has given us a lovely day for our bazaar."

"Bazaar? What bazaar?"

"The bazaar that I promised to open at Mrs. Baldwin's."

He sighed. "What extraordinary creatures women are. Not content with pursuing the irrelevant in London till your eyes are small, your feet tired, your voice hoarse and your mind stationary, the first thing you do on coming to the country is to go to a bazaar."

"I have never seen the Baldwins and I have never been to Overton since they bought it. Also we none of us ever liked the Overtons, and all this nonsense about 'poor Sir Henry' and 'these dreadful souvenirs riches' makes me sick. I'm all for a little new blood, and the thought of the Baldwins being too rich to be able to talk lugubriously about the times fills me with joy."

They walked out on to the terrace. Helen stepped in front of him.

"Cyril," she demanded, "do I look nice?"

He always wished she wouldn't ask that.

"I must look," he said dryly.

She was standing very erect, stretching her tallness to its full height. The hinting lines of her gray crepe de Chine dress revealed with delicate touches of emphasis and concealment the rounded slimmness of her beautiful young body. A big corn colored hat, low on her forehead, almost touched her straight penciled eyebrows. Her amber brown eyes were laughing, but her big curly mouth remained discreetly on the brink of a smile. Between the gold yellow and gray her skin was almost dangerously white, and her nails, like pale pink shells, seemed jewels at the end of each finger.

It hurt him to look at her, to be burned inside with the longing to take her in his arms, to be brutal and primitive and crush her lips and ruffle her hair, and feel her helpless and disheveled and limp and his.

"You look charming," he said coldly, and she felt a little chill of disappointment.

Read This New DAILY SERIAL

HERE IS a refreshing story of the loves of a group of people who seem as real as our own families. The Fir and the Palm does not depend for its interest on devastating action and harrassing mystery, but on the quieter conflict of emotions and suppressed passions. It is exquisitely told by a gifted writer and will, unquestionably, be one of the most talked-of novels of the year.

"The people in my novel have beckoned to me out of non-existence," said the Princess Bibesco. "They have worried me to come to life and haven't let me alone till I have given a shape to their joys, worries, sorrows, desires and disappointments. My relationship to my heroes is of the kind one feels towards friends and relations one knows, loves and sympathizes with. I felt about them as one does when one reads a detective story—I had to follow them, to live with them, to share their joys and worries."

Princess Bibesco

PRINCESS BIBESCO is the beautiful wife of the Roumanian minister to the United States. Before her marriage she was Elizabeth Asquith, daughter of Herbert Asquith, former British prime minister, and Margot Asquith, whose autobiography recently shocked England and amused America.

THE FIR AND THE PALM is Princess Bibesco's first novel since joining the diplomatic circle at Washington. But her short stories have given her a wide reputation as a writer. Her early work—she completed a novel at the age of eleven—brought her the friendship of Sir James Barry, Bernard Shaw, and other famous authors.

Princess Bibesco has a small daughter, Priscilla, and is one of Washington's most popular hostesses.

Mellon Would Cut Taxes 323 Million

Outlines Program But Declares Soldier Bonus Would Delay Reduction For Many Years.

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Federal tax revision under a program, applying reductions to the entire range of personal incomes and estimated to cut the nations tax bill next year by $323,000,000 will be recommended to Congress by Secretary Mellon.

Outlining his proposed program in a letter to acting Chairman Green of the House Ways and Means Committee, published today, Secretary Mellon declared that, contingent on the should be for this year and for the next four or five years, a revenue surplus above ordinary budget expenditures, including the fixed debt charges of something more than $300,000,000. This, he said, gives a reasonable margin for tax revision and reduction.

A soldiers bonus measure, the secretary asserted not only would postpone tax reduction "for many years to come" but would mean an increase rather than a decrease in taxes. The treasury, he said, adheres to the theory that the country would prefer a substantial reduction of taxation to the increased taxes that would necessarily follow from a soldiers bonus.

In the tax revision, which he suggested be made effective next January 1, Mr. Mellon recommended that taxes on earned incomes be reduced 25 per cent. and the rate of normal taxes on incomes from four per cent. and eight per cent. to 3 per cent. and 6 per cent. respectively. He proposed that the surtax rates be reduced by commencing application at $10,000 instead of $6,000 and scaling them progressively upwards to 25 per cent. on incomes of $100,000.

Proposed changes in the earned income and normal tax rates would mean a loss of revenue, the secretary estimated, of $197,000,000, the savings to tax payers falling largely in the lower income brackets. The proposed scaling down of the surtax rates, he predicted, would in the long run mean higher rather than lower revenues from this source, because of the stimulus it would give productive business by the diversion of capital from tax-exempt investment.

Important among proposed revised, which provide taxation increases were limitation of the deduction of capital losses to 12 1/2 per cent. of the loss and limitation of the deduction from gross income for interest paid during the year and for losses of not a business character to the amount the sums of these items exempt income of the taxpayers. It also was proposed to limit the deduction from the income of the spouse having control of the income in order to equalize the tax basis as between residents of those states which does those who do not recognize such income of husbands as joint income of husband and wife.

Other suggested revisions were repeal of the tax on admissions and the tax on telegrams, telephones and leased wires.

PRIZE FIGHTER IS FREED OF MURDER

(By Chicago Tribune Service)
CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Because the state could not prove that Sam Sperling, a taxicab driver had ever lived, Michael Enlo, a bantamweight prize fighter, charged with his murder, was set free in the criminal court today.

There was no difficulty in proving that Sperling was dead, or that he had been murdered, or that Enlo, in a fit of jealous anger slew him, but the state was unable to find a solitary witness to show that Sam Sperling ever lived. Consequently Judge Hurley struck off the charge against Enlo, with leave to reinstate in the event the state can find some one who knew Sperling in life. So far the state has found but three persons who knew Sperling well enough to testify that he was alive before he was dead. One is Enlo, who will not testify. Mrs. Enlo, whom the law will not permit to testify and a brother of Sperling, who has mysteriously disappeared. Meanwhile Sperling is very dead and Enlo is jaundily walking the streets.

America Played An Ignorable Part After World War Says Former President Wilson

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Woodrow Wilson, addressing the American people directly tonight for the first time since he left the White House, declared that America's attitude after the world war was "deeply ignoble, cowardly and dishonorable."

France and Italy, Mr. Wilson also declared in a discussion of world affairs, have made "waste paper of the treaty of Versailles."

The former president said the only way in which the United States could show its true appreciation of the significance of Armistice Day was by resolving to put self interest away and to formulate and act upon the highest ideals of international policy.

Mr. Wilson spoke exactly five minutes into a radio instrument at his home here and his message was then broadcast to every section of the country.

"The anniversary of Armistice Day," he said, "should stir us to great exaltation of spirit because of the proud recollection that it was our day, a day above those early days of that never-to-be-forgotten November which lifted the world to the high levels of vision and achievement upon which the great war for democracy and right was fought and won, although the stimulating memories of that happy time of triumph are forever marred and embittered for us by the shameful fact that when the victory was won—won, be it remembered, clearly by the indomitable spirit and valiant sacrifices of our own unconquerable soldiers—we turned our backs upon our associates and refused to bear any responsible part in the administration of peace or the firm and permanent establishment of the results of the war."

Wilson said that at so terrible a cost of life and treasure—and withdrawn into a sullen and selfish isolation, which is deeply ignoble because manifestly cowardly and dishonorable.

"This must always be a source of deep mortification to us, and we shall inevitably be forced by the moral obligations of freedom and honor to retrieve that fatal error and assume once more the role of courage, self-respect and helpfulness which every true American must wish and believe to be our true part in the affairs of the world."

"That we should thus have done a great wrong to civilization and at one of the most critical turning-points in the history of mankind, is the more to be deplored because every anxious year that has followed has made the exceeding need for such services as might have been rendered more and more manifest and more and more pressing, as demoralizing circumstance which we might have controlled have gone from bad to worse until now—as if to furnish a sort of sinister climax—France and Italy between them have made waste paper of the treaty of Versailles and the whole field of international relationships is in perilous confusion."

"The affairs of the world can be set straight only by the firmest and most determined exhibition of the will to lead and make the right prevail.

"Happily, the present situation of affairs in the world affords us an opportunity to retrieve the past and to render to mankind the incomparable service of proving that there is at least one great and powerful nation which can put aside programs of self-interest and devote itself to practicing and establishing the highest ideals of disinterested service and the constant maintenance of exalted standards of conscience and of right."

"The only way in which we can show our true appreciation of the significance of Armistice Day is by resolving to put self interest away and to formulate and act upon the highest ideals and purposes of international policy. Thus and only thus can we return to the true traditions of America."

Two of the most powerful radio stations in the east, one in Washington and another in New York were connected by wire with the microphone into which the former president spoke. At its central office here, the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company, under whose auspices the speech was delivered, set aside a room equipped with a complete staff for the use of newspaper correspondents in reporting the former president's words, but his voice did not come distinctly and in some cases the transcripts made by expert stenographers differed in some respects.

Mr. Wilson's manuscript, made public later, showed that in many instances he did not follow the prepared forms of his address. At several points he interpolated parenthetical clauses that did not appear in the text prepared beforehand. The clause in which he expressed his opinion of the course which has been followed by the United States since the war did not include the word "cowardly" used by him in delivering the address but read "and withdrawn into a sullen and selfish isolation which is deeply ignoble because manifestly dishonorable."

In its initial construction, however, and in the wording of most of its passages, the manuscript was followed without change.

HIS PRIZE DOG FAILED HIM IN CHASE ROBBERS

(By Chicago Tribune Service)
ELIZABETH, N. J., Nov. 10.—Since the North Broad street residence of J. Mortimer Townley was robbed a year ago, J. Mortimer has rested securely in the knowledge that it couldn't happen again. Hearing so much about these police dogs, Townley purchased Fritz, a prize winner, and left the huge, ferocious beast roam loose through his house at night. But Fritz pulled a prize boner last night.

This morning when Townley came downstairs he found a broken window, a drawer looted of its silverware and $2,100 cash missing from the dining room. Fritz was gleefully thumping the parquette with his tail and grinning at his master. No dead burglar was to be found. And when Police Sergeant John Reilly, summoned, came into the house shortly afterward, Fritz made a flying leap at his throat. The dog had to be tied before the officer could do any detecting.

"A beautiful dog, Mr. Townley," he commented.

"He should be beautiful," said Townley, "he's dumb enough."

Harvard Scores Her First Victory Over Tigers Since 1916

By LAWRENCE PERRY

(Copyright, 1923, by The Bee.)

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 12.—Harvard's first victory over the Princeton Tigers since 1916, was achieved Saturday afternoon when the Harvard team defeated the Princeton team by a field goal in the third period kicked by Pfaffman from the twenty-five-yard line and in the last period by a safety which Princeton deliberately committed in order to be able to put the ball in play on the thirty-yard mark. Dinsmore, the Princeton quarterback, made the safety.

Neither eleven gained any lustre through offensive tactics, the defense of both teams being equally determined and rugged to the highest degree. Such long dashes as were made came sporadically and played no part at all in the scoring. Neither Harvard nor Princeton was able to advance the ball through rushes as to carry in within dangerous proximity to the other's goal.

Harvard was placed in position to score her field goal through one of the breaks that were likely to occur in a game so close and desperately defended by both teams. Cordingley, who relieved Percy Jenkins when he was injured punted from his thirty-two-yard line. The ball took a back bounce as it came to the Princeton line and touched him upon the back. As the ball rolled out of bounds Combs, a Harvard end recovered on Princeton's twenty-five-yard mark. A rush took the ball six yards nearer the goal and then Pfaffman was called into the game to do his drop kicking specialty. He sent the ball through the posts in workmanlike fashion.

Right there this looked like the break that would win the contest for Harvard. Princeton was able to gain through the line a bit more consistently than Harvard she had nothing that was able to pierce the Harvard defense for dangerous distance. The time in the game did the Tigers carry the ball inside Harvard's twenty-five yard line and upon only one occasion, the time when the Princeton made her drop kick, was the winning team inside the Tiger's 30-yard mark.

Princeton's best opportunity came in the first quarter when Harvard forced back to her goal line by Van Gerbig's punting superiority got off a line upon the Princeton's 20-yard line and upon only one occasion, the time when the Princeton made her drop kick, was the winning team inside the Tiger's 30-yard mark.

The ruggedness of the defensive play was marked in the number of men injured on both teams. Jenkins and McGilvray of Harvard were carried from the field but their injuries it is said were not so serious that they will be kept out of the Yale contest.

Harvard's defense against every sort of attack was well equipped. Her punting and covering of punts were superb. She showed no new wrinkles in any attack and Princeton cared adequately for what she did show. The Harvard defense was a line rushing game designed to punctuate scores within her opponent's 20-yard line but she had apparently no attack to bring her up to this mark.

In other words the Harvard attack of both offense and defense was without any great merit. Whether or not Harvard and Princeton's defense would have been qualified to have withstood more vigorous and better conducted attacks in the games both are to play against the fast moving Yale team.

BOOZE TREATY WON'T ALTER BAN ON U. S. SHIPS

By GRAFTON WILCOX. WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Consummation of the treaty with Great Britain permitting search of foreign vessels for liquor within 12 miles of the United States shores will not alter the ban on American ships carrying liquor outside American territorial waters.

This was made clear at the White House today when it was announced that President Coolidge has no objection to the matter.

It was explained also that the treaty cannot alter the status of American ships with respect to bringing liquor within the territorial waters of the United States. The Supreme Court decision against such traffic cannot be affected by the treaty. This will leave foreign ships, the advantage of the transportation of liquor under seal which will be permitted under the treaty to come into the territorial waters of the United States in transit for other countries.

President Coolidge also let it be known today that he does not favor at this time the abolition of the shipping board and transfer of its functions to the department of commerce. Official Washington generally did not receive with favor resolutions adopted by the American Congress in New York yesterday advocating such a course. The President, it was stated, does not regard the present an opportune time to consider absorption of the shipping board by the department of commerce.

A formal statement was issued by Commissioners Thompson and Piatt, member of the shipping board criticizing the resolutions adopted by the American Congress.

The President's position in the matter at the present time, it was said, is that all the talent that can be obtained is needed to operate the government fleet. If the time should come when the affairs in connection with the Merchant Marine are fully organized and things are running smoothly, then consideration might be given to transferring shipping board matters to one of the cabinet departments.

PRESBYTERIANS WIN.

"BANDIT QUEEN" THREATENED TO KILL FATHER

(By Chicago Tribune Service) CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Anna Barron, alleged worst case "bandit queen," who is but sixteen years of age, threatened to kill her father unless he released her. She had managed to conceal a pistol in her clothing and her father, realizing she meant business, unlocked the chair in which he had fastened one of her ankles to a bed post.

Six hours later she was captured in a thrilling street battle with the police, after she and several youthful robbers had been holding up a number of pedestrians and automobile parties at the point of pistol and robbing them.

Anna's father has tried in various ways to break her connection with the gang of robbers. As a first step when she went out to the bed post. By way of emphasizing her threat to kill him, she hurled a chair through a window. Her mother is said the police finally have Anna in custody. She says Anna began to go wrong when she went out with some boys to steal an automobile for joy rides. Later this led to the robbing and hold up raids. Her parents say she has been entirely out of her control for two years, merely being a name as a hiding place.

Anna and her five companions worked rapidly last night. First they stole a fast car, and held up persons before the shotgun squad of the police department sighted the bandit car. Then followed a thrilling chase through the streets. The bandit car, in making a swift turn, collided with a telegraph pole, but righted itself and sped on. A few blocks further on the car swerved and ran on a sidewalk, colliding with a heavy railing. Three of the bandits leaped out and escaped, but Anna and two of her gang were overpowered.

Toast left-over slices of bread and cover with white sauce to which grated cheese has been added. This makes a most nutritious luncheon dish.

CHAPPED HANDS Keep a little hand lotion over the sink and use it occasionally to keep your hands from becoming chapped. Lemon juice or vinegar is effective if you have no lotion on hand.

The Messrs. Shubert have made very unusual preparations for the presentation of "Sally, Irene and Mary," which comes direct from a year's engagement in New York to the Majestic Theatre, Tuesday, Nov. 20th. The company to present this musical comedy is one of the most talented that has been brought together by the Messrs. Shubert very many of their successful musical comedies. The musical numbers were arranged by Allan K. Foster, who has put on all the dancing numbers for all the big Winter Garden productions for several years. The cast will include: Eddie Featherston, Willie Freeman, Katherine Kaye, Mary Lane, Bessie Goss, Katherine Ward, Maida Reed, Carlin Crandall, Harriet Ross, Kenneth Richards, Joseph Wagstaff, Tom Morrison, Venie Atherton, Edna Cella, Lucille Scubler, Joe Barrett, Augustus Balfour, George Williams and a charming collection of tantalizing toe-tapping terpsichoreans and the famous Casino Beauty Ballet.
